ARSENIC PLOT WOMAN IN COLLAPSE AT JAIL

Woman Says She Killed Her Children Because Of 'Love For Them'

CROWN POINT, Ind., April 16.—Mrs. Anna Cunningham, 47, the mother who fed her children arsenic sandwiches that they might "join their father in heaven," may herself be suffering—perhaps dying—from arsenic poisoning.

This was the belief of authorities here today as the woman collapsed in her cell again. Despite her condition, however, authorities ordered court convened by her bedside and she was to be arraigned on a murder charge as she lay ill.

The legal machinery that will send Mrs. Cunningham to the gallows or to an insane hospital for the remainder of her life, was set in motion here today as the "poisoning mother" slept quietly following her weird tale of death in which she accounted for the deaths of three of her five children from arsenic poisoning administered by her.

"Killed for Love" Before the day is over, according to early plans, a sanity commission will have ruled on Mrs. Cunningham's mentality and additional murder warrants for the deaths of her daughter, Isabelle, and her son, Harry, will have been sworn out against her, although in her epic of death, she denied Harry had been among those to whom she fed the bread spread with arsenic and butter. She is already under indictment for the death of Walter, her youngest son, in whose exhumed body the state's chemists reported they found quantities of free arsenic.

And it was because she loved them that she killed them, she declared in her strange confession, made late last night. She was urged by a "drawing in her head" which told her to join her husband in heaven and to take her best beloved child with her. Mrs. Cunningham said, in accounting for the mysterious series of illnesses which in six years have claimed five members of the family and left one fighting death in the Columbus hospital in Chicago. Despite the announced intention of the state to arraign Mrs. Cunningham today, her condition became such shortly after noon that attempts to hold the hearing, even as she lay in her cell, were abandoned indefinitely.

Purchases Poison She matched her denial even after reporters informed her subsequently that she had bought the poison.

Ku Klux Leader Must Stand Criminal Trial

INDIANAPOLIS, April 16.—D. C. Stephenson, 33, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana, and a prominent figure in state politics, must stand trial in criminal court on charges of criminally attacking Miss Madge Oberholzer, 28, who died from self-administered poison. This was the ruling of Judge James A. Collins today in denying Stephenson's motion to quash all charges contained in the five indictments he faces.

Senate Passes State Building Bond Proposal

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—The $8,500,000 bond proposal for the two university building programs, and for state buildings at Los Angeles and Sacramento passed the Senate today.

The proposition is to be placed before the voters at the next general election. It provides for issuing bonds, the money to be spent as follows: Three million dollars for buildings at the university at Berkeley; $3,000,000 for buildings at the southern branch of the university in Los Angeles; $1,250,000 for a state building at Los Angeles; $1,250,000 for completion of the state capitol annex buildings at Sacramento.

The vote on the measure was 32 to 6.

ASK AID FROM COUNTY ON BRIDGES

Announcement Made of Plan To Secure $200,000 for Needed Structures

Two hundred thousand dollars of county funds to help in the construction of new concrete bridges over the Los Angeles river at Glendale boulevard and Fletcher drive, will be sought from the county Board of Supervisors next Monday when representatives of every city from San Bernardino county to the ocean meet at the supervisors' office in Los Angeles.

These representatives met at the Masonic temple, Glendale, today noon and outlined plans for their request before the supervisors. Speakers at the meeting pictured the paramount necessity of the two proposed bridges. Present conditions are not only a menace to life and property but are retarding progress and hampering property values, they declared.

L. T. Rowley, chairman of the highways and bridges committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, in charge of the meeting, told the delegates of the proposition to have funds for building the two bridges placed on the June ballot by the city council of Los Angeles. He declared that the council was willing to place the bond issue before voters of Los Angeles provided county help is assured in building the river spans.

Visitors Present Among visitors from other cities of the San Fernando and San Gabriel valleys who attended the conference here today were Montaville Flowers, chairman of the highways and bridges committee of the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce; the Pasadena Realty board and the city of Monrovia; Frank J. Wiffler, secretary of the Monrovia Chamber of Commerce; Frank Thompson, president of the West Side Improvement association, Monrovia; Price Holmes, Huntington Drive Improvement association, Monrovia; Leo B. Lesperance, Van Nuys, president of the Associated Chamber of Commerce; O. J. Renfrew, secretary of the Greater San Fernando Valley association, and the Associated Chambers of Commerce; Herman H. Breit, president of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce; J. O. B. Bodkin, secretary of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce; G. D. Seaman, William Theumer and H. D. CONTRACT FOR CITY SEWER AWARDED

H. C. Hickey Of Glendale Secures Work; Council Clashes On Bonds

H. C. Hickey, Glendale contractor, today was awarded the contract for installation of section eight of the intercepting sewer system covering the downtown section and along San Fernando road, when his bid of $61,184.90 was accepted.

The bid of Kuljek & Behek for $55,900, the lowest submitted, was rejected by the council. This firm was awarded the contract on an even lower bid several weeks ago, but after it posted bond the company asked to be released on the grounds that the figures submitted covered only the actual cost of the work.

Discussion Results Today a heated discussion was evoked when Councilman S. A. Davis entered a motion to return to Kuljek & Behek the $4500 bond they posted when awarded the first contract. "They might as well have the bond returned to them on the ground that they were irresponsible bidders," said Davis. "They saved the city about $15,000 just because they entered a bid, and I think the contract price would have been $30,000 higher than it is if it hadn't been for the fact that they were in the race."

Ray Morrow, city attorney, advised against Davis' recommendation, urging that the contractors be held to their bond. Denies Saving "The city didn't save anything on account of Kuljek & Behek," declared City Manager V. B. Stone. "The city is paying about $11,000 more because of them. Their bond is good. It should be held, at least for the present."

Davis and Gihuly voted to return the bond, but with Mayor Spencer Robinson casting the deciding vote.

OPERATION 'ONLY CURE' FOR RUTH

Home-Run King Will Go Under Surgeon's Knife Friday Morning

NEW YORK, April 16.—Babe Ruth, ailing slugger of the New York Yankees, will have to undergo an operation, his physicians announced this afternoon. Doctors Stewart and King, who have been attending Ruth since he was stricken with influenza at Asheville, N. C., said he had developed an abscess as a result of the influenza and his generally run-down condition and that the operation was the only cure.

Dr. King said he would perform the operation Friday morning at St. Vincent's hospital, where Ruth has been confined since his return to New York from the south. The new complications, while not considered serious, have set Ruth back, it was said. His temperature was high this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Street traffic around the home of Secretary of War Weeks, in upper Sixteenth street, was diverted today, giving rise to reports that his illness had taken a suddenly serious turn. The secretary suffered a slight stroke of thrombosis two weeks ago, which partially paralyzed his left side. He has been reported as steadily recovering.

RIVALS AGREE ON HARMONY PROGRAM

New Cabinet Organization Will Be Completed By Tomorrow, Belief

By FRANK E. MASON For International News Service

PARIS, April 16.—Harmony ruled tonight in the French political and financial crisis, after six days of intensity, and it was expected that a new cabinet, with Paul Painleve as premier and Joseph Caillaux as minister of finance, would be in office by tomorrow.

After a day of bickering and conferences, the Socialists agreed to support Caillaux, and Caillaux and Aristide Briand smoothed out their political differences. Briand's friends said he would join the cabinet as foreign minister.

Caillaux, called to the finance ministry by Painleve, is opposed to the 10 per cent levy law of the Socialists and the Socialists said they would oppose his appointment.

The Bank of France balance sheet showed a decrease of 45,000,000 francs over last week. The bank's loans to the government last week increased 350,000,000 francs. This makes the total loan to the government 22,350,000,000 francs. The legal limit heretofore has been 22,000,000,000 francs.

Caillaux Dominates The personality of Caillaux dominated the French situation, eclipsing the appointment of Painleve to succeed Herriot, who resigned last week, and the financial crisis of the nation.

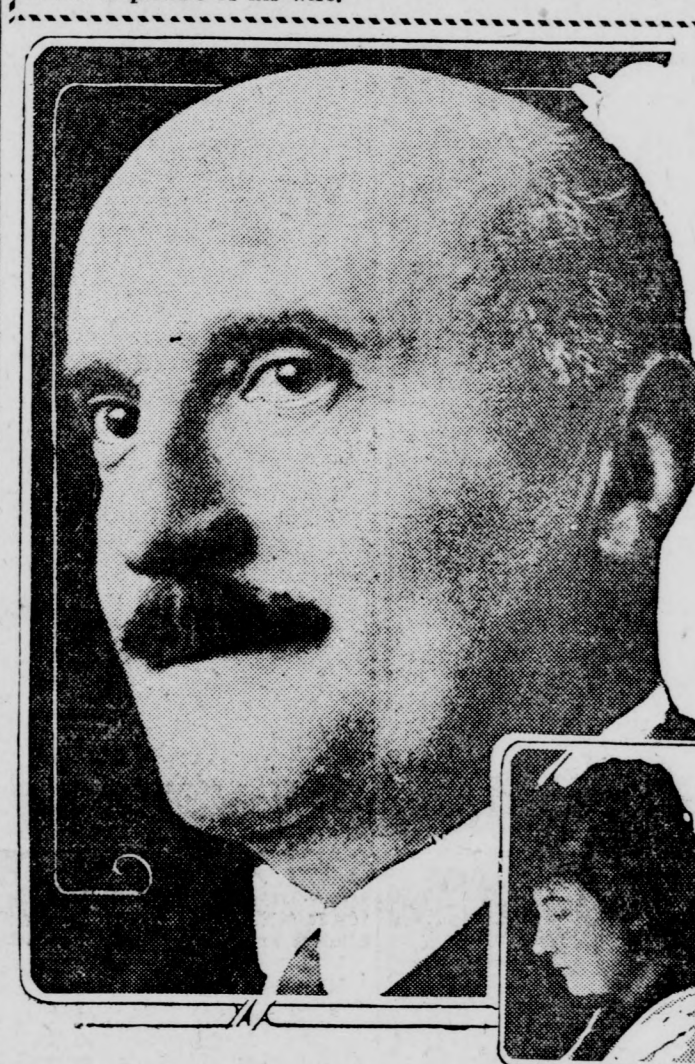

Caillaux is said to be convinced it is possible to restore the financial stability of France without carrying out the plan of the radical Socialist party to collect a 10 per cent tax on all accumulated wealth. Caillaux' program was said to contemplate a temporary repudiation of all government bonds.

Threatens Death War-time feeling against Caillaux flamed anew on the door.

SHEPHERD ENTERS NOT GUILTY PLEA

Formal Answer To Charge of Murder Made As Man Is Before Judge

CHICAGO, April 16.—"Not guilty!" This was the formal answer which William D. Shepherd today sent ringing through a courtroom here in reply to the state's charge that he murdered William Nelson McClintock, his foster son, by inoculating him with typhoid germs.

It was given at Shepherd's formal arraignment, a reality at last, after innumerable delays. The session was devoid of thrills and it brought no definite date for a trial.

Move to Quash

As a prelude to the plea, William S. Stewart, Shepherd's counsel, entered a motion to quash the indictments but declared he did not wish to argue the motion at this time, and the court, without hesitation, overruled it.

Dr. Charles C. Faiman, Shepherd's co-defendant, whose confession that he supplied Shepherd with typhoid germs was largely responsible for the indictment, was not arraigned today. He still is in custody at the Briggs house despite the writ of mandamus filed yesterday in an effort to force the authorities to lodge him in jail.

LAWMAKERS RUSH TO FINISH WORK

Uncontested Measures Are Passed With Rapidity; Adjournment Near

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—With the two leading issues virtually settled by developments of the past twenty-four hours, the statute mill of the 1925 Legislature was today turning out scores of uncontested measures as it ground rapidly toward adjournment seven days distant.

The general feeling in both houses today with respect to the two major problems gave rise to the following forecast:

Legislative reapportionment at this session is dead.

Enactment of the three-cent gasoline tax to finance new highway construction is assured.

On the first issue, that of re-districting, the attitude of the Assembly, as displayed in its overwhelming defeat of the Heister farm bloc plan and Dodge-Walters southern program, blasted all hope of pushing a re-apportionment measure through the lower House, even though it passed the Senate. The issues will probably be definitely disposed of late today in the Senate when that body takes up the three reapportionment bills of Senators Chamberlin, Jones and Boggs.

Several Killed And Large Property Loss During Hurricane On Coast

BULLETIN AMSTERDAM, April 16.—The British dirigible R-33, which was swept away from England by a gale, was flying low over the water near Zandvoort this evening. Dutch torpedoboats put out to render assistance if it is needed.

By HARRY FLOREY For International News Service

PULHAM, England, April 16.—In a terrific gale which swept Great Britain today, several men were killed, considerable damage was done and the British army dirigible R-33, with twenty men aboard, broke from its moorings and floated to sea.

At a late hour this afternoon the R-33 was flying 1000 feet over the English channel and in the direction of Amsterdam. It has gasoline sufficient to propel it for two days and the British gunboat Doodetia was following in its wake.

Belfast reported great damage in Ulster; at Yarmouth, England, slate roofs were ripped off and chimneys demolished; at Liverpool small boats were washed ashore and shipping paralyzed; in London all air traffic was suspended. Two men met death in outlying cities when trees fell.

Close to Amsterdam

The station said it had been picking up wireless messages all afternoon from the R-33. The last message, before the distress signal, gave the position of the R-33 as forty-eight miles northwest of Amsterdam.

The air ministry issued a statement which said:

"The R-33 at 7 o'clock tonight reported her engines working O. K. Her position then was near Ymudin, North Holland. "Reports emanating from wireless stations and Holland that the R-33 was calling for assistance are based upon misapprehension of the situation, and are due to messages sent out by passing ships."

The air ministry indicated that a passing ship saw the R-33, believed it was in distress and sent out S. O. S. calls in its behalf. The air ministry said it had been keeping in close touch by radio with the R-33, but had not received any message of distress. The Norfolk station reported the S. O. S. signal from the R-33 was picked up at 6:30 o'clock.

The R-33 had been in commission only nine days. Last week it flew over London. Recalling the heavy loss of life in the R-34 accident, crowds tensely watched bulletin boards for news of the R-33's unprogrammed flight.

Comes Close to Sea

At Lowestoft other crowds gathered on shore. The body of the huge craft was described as "quivering" as the gale carried it seaward. Once it seemed that it would be driven into the sea. Witnesses said it came to within a few feet of the water.

Grave Fears For Safety of Airship Adrift

LONDON, April 16.—There were indications this evening that the R-33, for hours adrift in a gale, was in serious distress. The Norfolk radio station announced it had intercepted an S. O. S. signal from the ship stating its nose had been torn away.

At 8 o'clock tonight there was an unconfirmed report that the Japanese steamer Amazon Maru was wirelessing:

"The British airship needs assistance. Driving toward England with its nose crushed."

The air ministry insisted that these messages were merely "alarming reports." The top of the dirigible mooring mast was broken off when the big ship tore loose, and this, dangling from the bow, hindered navigation of the airship.

WALSH TO DEFEND SENATOR WHEELER

Solon Charged With Taking Oil Fee To Be Tried In Boise, April 16

By MICHAEL F. DACEY
For International News Service.
GREAT FALLS, Mont., April 16.—Charged with accepting a fee for appearing before the Department of the Interior at Washington as attorney for Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, after his election as United States Senator, Burton K. Wheeler will go on trial in Federal District Court here April 16.

After three postponements and the voluntary disqualification of two Federal judges, the case, which involves allegations that Senator Wheeler appeared for Campbell in the latter's effort to secure permits to operate oil and gas lands in the Kevin-Sunburst field, near here, will be tried before Federal Judge Frank H. Dietrich, of Boise, Idaho.

Claims "Frame Up"
Wheeler was indicted April 7, 1924. At that time, the running mate of Senator Robert M. La Follette on the third party ticket declared the charges were the result of a political "frame up" because of his prosecution of former Attorney-General Harry Daugherty. He still maintains this attitude, and has denounced "the administration" for its activities against him in Montana.

Mrs. Parr asks that club members meet at 2:45 o'clock.

ASK UNIFORM TYPE OF TREES FOR ATWATER

Property Owners Advocate Movement to Beautify District; Bird Sanctuary Is Established In Canyon

A movement to have property owners on all streets of the Atwater Park district between Los Feliz and Glendale boulevards plant a uniform type of shade trees in the parkings in front of their homes is being advocated by a number of owners.

Beautification of the streets with trees has been discussed on several occasions. It is not probable that city aid in the work can be secured, it was stated, so that a movement to have the owners themselves take the initiative in planting the trees has been started.

Streets south of Glendale boulevard, in most instances, are lined with acacia trees. On streets in this section that do not have trees a similar tree-planting campaign has been suggested.

Have Bird Sanctuary

Under the auspices of Van M. Griffith, president of the Los Angeles Park commission and the California Audubon society, Vermont canyon, in Griffith park, has been dedicated as a bird sanctuary.

Water has been provided and the canyon has been fenced off. It is about a mile in length. Trees and shrubbery will be added to make a bird refuge not open to the public except on special occasions. A large rock, bearing the Audubon society's flag emblazoned on a bronze tablet, has been unveiled at the entrance to the canyon.

Tomorrow night Atwater Masons will hold their regular meeting at 3218 Glendale boulevard, the Pythian castle, at Park avenue and South Brand boulevard, not being available for the meeting, Mr. Chapman announced.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

As this comment is being written in Sacramento the gasoline tax fight has reached its peak in the state Senate.

Governor Richardson placed it squarely before the California Legislature to decide upon a highway financing program.

It was apparent that he did not wish the responsibility of raising more taxes and therefore did not personally advocate the measure.

But it was made very plain that the gasoline tax is an administration measure. And therein lies the tale.

Senator Will R. Sharkey, who is leading the opposition of the oil companies to the increase of 1 cent in the present levy, isn't doing it because of the "oily boys," as the little New York boy might say.

Oh, no. He is settling a little political argument with the governor. Friend W. labelled his newspaper friend from Martinez as a "reactionary spendthrift."

Not only that, there was a powerful candidate put in the field against Sharkey and the fighting votes at the last election.

Now Mr. Sharkey wants to see the State Highway commission, which was politically active during the campaign according to charges hurled on the floor of the Senate.

As we were about to say, Sharkey wants the highway commission suffer and SUFFER!

But there is a little joker in the highway financing program found at the last minute. The budget contains $5,500,000, which will show his hand very often, but anyone who doesn't believe he effectively licks his enemies—and pardon that term, for he loves them for the fight they give him—is sadly mistaken.

Charlie Guthrie, Glendale realtor who is prominently mentioned for the office of state real estate commissioner, is going to get an interview with the governor. That was arranged by Assemblyman Frank C. Weller.

Guthrie, by the way, has a good chance, but there are other interests seeking to name the commissioner. They are big business interests in Los Angeles, if the writer is correctly informed. And they carry considerable weight with the governor. Also, there are others seeking the post.

However, it is to be hoped that Glendale receives some favor from the administration. Methinks it will, too. But the governor has a pleasant way of saying, "No, not now," to his friends and fixing them up later as witness the case of Justus Cramer, Orange newspaperman.

Incidentally, the governor has a friendly feeling toward Glendale and Assemblyman Weller and his other supporters. He may select Charles B. Guthrie. One never can tell.

MONTROSE, April 16.—Comrade Le Roy Dawson of the Rainbow division and Comrade Jimmy O'Hara of Glendale were the principal speakers last night at the open meeting of the Verdugo Hills post of the American Legion, No. 228, held at Sparr Heights Community house. Following a short business meeting, at which plans for starting the cement work on the new post home were discussed, Comrade Don Urquhart presented Mrs. Guy Carlton in a vocal number, accompanied by Miss Josephine MacGuire of Hollywood.

"Love's Echo," as sung by Mrs. Carlton, was a treat for the music lovers of the valley, as she has a clear, resonant voice. Miss MacGuire was an ideal accompanist, having studied music from childhood. As her instrumental number, Miss MacGuire gave "Sous Bois," by Victor Staub. Miss MacGuire, a radio artist, playing over KFI, was secured for the post party through courtesy of Mr. Barnum of Sparr Heights.

The principal business of the meeting was discussion of plans for Sunday's work, when the members will meet for an all-day session to pour cement for the foundation of the home. The Moore Co. has donated cement machines and other necessary equipment for the work. The buddies will be fed by the auxiliary members of the post, who will prepare dinner at noon.

Comrade Dawson, who survived numerous wounds during the war, gave a humorous account of his hospital experience and while he made light of the affair he is permanently disabled. Concluding his account, Mr. Dawson told of the treat in store for lovers of clean sport when Nurni, the "Flying Finn," appears at the Coliseum on April 25.

The Rainbow division has taken the entire block of seats at the Coliseum for the track events. High school pupils will be charged 50 cents. The committee on arrangements for the carnival and fair, whose members have had the matter under advisement for the past three months, decided to lay the matter on the table for the present. The note for $3000 to finance the new post home is now at the bank.

Blind Jimmy O'Hara of Glendale auctioned off the surprise packages. The auxiliary had prepared the contents. Jimmy has the auctioneer's persuasive manner and raised quite a neat sum for the women, who will use it for purchasing supplies for the Sunday feed.

After the auction Jimmy gave his audience a brilliant talk on the blind veterans and told of the brave way they are facing life. He told of three buddies who have no hands, how they had all taken to music and how they are all taking life as they meet it, with a smile. As an example of the perseverance of the blind buddies in facing life's problems, Jimmy told of Comrade Akers of Tujunga, who is operating the famous Akers Rhode Island Red ranch.

Post Commander A. E. Baron and Mrs. Baron furnished the music for dancing. Comrade Jimmy O'Hara playing his Irish harp, a washboard.

A delicious supper was served by the women of the auxiliary. All Legionnaires are requested to be at the cement-pouring ceremonies on Sunday and help the good work along.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, April 16.—With 105 paid-up members and more joining every day the La Crescenta Chamber of Commerce has received word from Sacramento that the incorporation papers have been filed for record. The chamber meets once a week. This week's meeting considered reports from the various committees working on improvements including the new sign which has replaced the Bide-A-Wee sign which has hung over the La Crescenta postoffice since the building was erected.

Bill Miller of the Valley Lumber Co. has donated the lumber for the two new signs to be erected on Michigan boulevard with appropriate inscription directing the tourists entering La Crescenta valley.

S. B. Young and Herbert A. Scheuer of the Highway Sign committee, will decide on locations for these signs. Houses now are being numbered in the vicinity of the westend in Honolulu Acres.

La Crescenta valley Masons will hold an open meeting for Masons and their wives at the Highway Highland clubrooms on Tuesday, April 21. All Masons are invited.

Post Commander A. E. Baron and Mrs. Baron furnished the music for dancing. Comrade Jimmy O'Hara playing his Irish harp, a washboard.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, April 16.—At a meeting of the City Planning commission an agreement was reached to recommend to the city board of trustees that an amendment be added to the zoning ordinance including in the residential zone the territory bounded by Alameda and Olive avenues and Lamer and Buena Vista streets, excepting those portions already designated as business zones. This action was taken as the result of complaints alleging unsanitary and objectionable features of dairies located in that district.

Third street will be open for traffic about May 1 if no unexpected difficulties are met with, according to W. J. Curran, the contractor who is now paving the street.

Mrs. Gladys Fischer, president of the Burbank Choral club, has announced that the Santa Paula Choral club will present a concert in this city next Tuesday night. This will be the fourth of a series of five concerts given during the season by the local organization, two of which are exchange concerts.

E. B. Thomas, principal of the John Muir school, has been made Boy Scout field executive, to aid Scout Executive Cheesman, who serves the entire Verdugo hills district.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Music, 245 Tulunja avenue, have left by automobile for Miami, Arizona, where they will visit relatives. They plan to spend nearly a year in visiting various points throughout the west before returning to Burbank.

"I know it will dissolve the uric acid deposits that have become deeply imbedded in joints and muscles and quickly drive every trace of rheumatism from your body. I know this because I was crippled for years and many times unable to work, and Allenhu made a well, robust, healthy man of me."

"I know because since I cured myself hundreds have taken Allenhu and speedily rid themselves of this agonizing disease." ## NEWS WRITERS GUESTS OF NEW CLUB

Scribes Are Entertained At Los Serranos; Play Golf And Enjoy Dinner

Los Serranos Country club is a reality—and its realness was emphasized to the nth degree yesterday when its officers played host to approximately 125 newspaper and magazine men gathered from all over Southern California. The old traditional hospitality of Don Antonio Maria Lugo, original owner of Rancho Santa Ana Del Chino, where the Los Serranos Country club now stands, prevailed throughout the entire day—from early in the morning when the golf tournaments began until long after a wonderful seven-course dinner, served at 7:30 last night.

The festivities yesterday at the Serranos club, marked the formal pre-opening of Southern California's newest and probably most beautiful country club. There is nearly 1,000 acres in the rancho of which 320 acres have been purchased outright by the club and on which two modern 18-hole golf courses will be laid out.

Also Polo Fields

The first of these is now complete and was designed and built by John Duan Dunn, golf course architect of international note. There will also be polo fields, miles of bridle paths, fishing and boating on a 50-acre lake, tennis courts, aviation field and various other forms of out-door sports and recreation.

Formal opening of the club is announced for Sunday, April 25, when President H. C. Davidson of Long Beach, expects to welcome everyone of the 400 members, their families and friends at the initiation of Los Serranos into the social and sports life of Southern California.

Near Convention
The "get-together" of newspaper men at Los Serranos yesterday, might well have been called a newspapermen's convention, for numbered among the guests were scores of familiar names seen almost every day as by-lines in California's leading dailies.

H. C. Davidson of Long Beach is president. W. G. Hamilton of Los Angeles is secretary and Louis C. Simmel of Los Angeles is membership secretary. Due to the illness of Mr. Davidson yesterday, Mr. Simmel acted as master of ceremonies and certainly convinced everyone that he understands the full meaning of the word host.

Daily Greeting to News Readers

FACTS COMPEL US—

To believe that the world is not safe until democracy is godly.
To hope that we get no more liberty until we get more self-mastery.
To try Christianity—we've tried everything else.
To attempt the impossible because we have seen it done so often.
To accept many things on faith even when we don't have the facts.
To admit that high living is less expensive than high life.
To be charitable in our judgments of others lest we be misjudged.

GET IN TUNE WITH THE HEAVENS

A prominent astronomer has expressed the opinion that if all the people in the world were to study astronomy there would be no more wars. "If one really gets into the spirit of astronomy, gets in tune with the heavens, one loses the spirit of war," he says. "Petty strifes of the world fall before the magnitude of the universe. Men would forget their quarrels if they could see how trivial they are in the world scheme of things."

While the world will never give attention to the heavens to the extent of forgetting the petty affairs of earth, yet what this astronomer says is true. If we could get in tune with the universe and realize our unimportance, our spiritual relationships would quickly adjust themselves. The more one studies the stars, the less one feels prideful and self-conceited.

A man who knew nothing of astronomy made it his custom when he was beset with worries to go out and look at the stars. He tried to realize the vastness of the universe, the insignificance of the earth in relation to a heaven filled with worlds, and his own insignificance in relation to our world. Nothing, he said, could bring him so quickly to the realization that his troubles were of no moment or importance in the scheme of things.

But, although the universe is vast and the study of it is interesting and helpful, yet we are most concerned about the little corner of it where we have been set down. And this is right. We have been put here for a purpose, and, insignificant though we are in the scheme of the universe, yet we each have our duty to perform and our destiny to work out. We are trivial, the astronomer tells us, in the world scheme of things, but there is no one on earth or on any of the vast worlds swinging in space who can do the work that we have been sent here to do. In this sense we are of the utmost importance in the eyes of Him who made the universe.

EXCITEMENT HUNGER

Whether it is a laudable trait or a bad habit, the fact remains that every normal human being craves excitement in some form or other, to a greater or less degree. And a certain amount of excitement is beneficial. The crossroads village is the rendezvous of all the neighboring farmers and their families on Saturday night. They do not come to see the town, for there is nothing to see. They come to mingle with other people, exchange gossip and get a thrill. City people may ridicule their country cousins for going to the village on Saturday night for excitement, but it is the same urge that fills the haunts of pleasure on Broadway every night in the week.

If this craving for excitement is repressed entirely there is bound to be an explosion. Parents do not err in this direction nowadays, but there was a time when some people thought it for the best to deny their children any time or opportunity for pleasure and they were often shocked and hurt when these children went wrong. But to give too much time and attention to the longing for excitement is equally disastrous. Satisfy it, but do not let it master you.

Some people can get a thrill out of watching the fire-engine go by. They are among the happiest of earth because they are so easily satisfied. Others cannot satisfy their craving for excitement short of riding upsidedown in an airplane. When some feel the craving coming on they read "Treasure Island" or some detective story or go to a blood-and-thunder movie. Others cannot take their excitement vicariously. They must be in the midst of it.

Feed your hunger for excitement, but feed it sparingly. Given too much nourishment it will develop beyond reason and overpower you.

MAN ASSERTS HIMSELF

The worm is turning, and man, who has heretofore been downtrodden in all his financial relations with respect to marriage, is asserting himself. He is asking for balm in breach of promise suits as well as for separate maintenance allowances and alimony in divorce proceedings. With the growing custom of greater freedom and opportunity for women, their desire for financial independence and their employment in a number of occupations formerly closed to them, there is a sentiment that this new freedom should include responsibility in matrimonial relationships.

Breach of promise suits brought against women assume that when a man becomes engaged to a woman of wealth he is as much damaged if she refuses to carry out the bargain as she would be if the case were reversed, and courts have given verdicts according to this theory.

A San Francisco man suing for separate maintenance of $300 a month on the ground that his wife makes life too disagreeable for him to live with her says she is amply able to support him separately. Here is a dependent husband, incapable or unwilling to earn his own living, and a capable wife, financially. A man whose wife is wealthy is justified in making her his meal-ticket to the same extent that men in the past have been made the meal-tickets of women. But let us hope the custom will not become general among men.

RULES FOR SUCCESS

A young man asked a successful business man to give him the basis of financial success, and he answered, "Industry, thrift, integrity, application, energy, foresight and good habits." It is through these habits and characteristics that men have gained the respect of their fellows and built up large fortunes. Study the lives of men who have made outstanding records in the financial world. They have all been noted for application to business, energy and industry. Many of them started as poor men.

The successful banker, merchant, financier, is seldom a gambler. He has foresight and uses it. He does not speculate by buying or selling in the dark, on margins, stocks he knows nothing about. When he gambles it is like the farmer gambles when he plants his crop. He buys real estate because he believes it will advance in value. He buys securities of corporations with which he is familiar. But he does not make questionable investments with the hope that they will pay him more than a legitimate dividend.

THE SERMON ON THE MOUNT

Habit and Emotion

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Few of us realize that emotions are as much the creatures of habit as actions.

Our passions have to have a rut to run in as well as our deeds.

Human nature is a peculiar thing. It is always easier for us to do a thing again that we have done before, and easier in proportion to the number of times we have done it.

The German proverb is perfectly true that says that all beginnings are difficult.

Prudence Penny recently quoted from someone as follows: "Every established mental condition is an acquired habit, and has become such by continued repetition of thought. Despondency and cheerfulness, anger and calmness, covetousness and generosity—indeed all states of mind—are habits built up by choice, until they have become automatic. A thought constantly repeated at last becomes a fixed habit of the mind, and from such habits develops the life."

One reason why you are angry at a certain thing is that under similar circumstances you have been angry before.

We do not realize that we are irritable and speak sharply and are otherwise disagreeable, simply because we have fallen into the way of it. We have followed the line of least resistance and the habit has grown upon us.

Oppositely, being polite and gentle and loving is not wholly a matter of disposition, but it is largely a matter of habit.

If we get into the way of expressing pleasant thoughts and saying pleasant things, we will continue to do it increasingly, and life will be much easier for us. If we get into the way of repressing any such emotions, it grows constantly easier to repress them.

Character is determined largely by our habits. They are difficult to form. They require an exercise of will power in order to commence them. But with every repetition the will power required is less and finally they operate of themselves.

We do not have to watch a habit. It watches itself. We do not have to be careful of what we shall do. The habit takes care of us.

By forming good habits one places himself in the hands of an automatic policeman who unconsciously determines his course of life.

A habit never sleeps. It is constantly on the job. Good will and good intentions may vary according to our moods and a life that is governed by them is apt to be very spotted indeed. But a man who has created good habits presents a pretty uniform surface of politeness and gentility.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

In the oldest books known to man, we find youth being censured for its bad conduct and willful ways, and predictions being made that the world will suffer for the wildness of its young.

Every generation finds fault with the manners of the adolescents and decides they will come to no good end.

And when those adolescents grow into men and women, fathers and mothers, grandfathers and grandmothers, they also shudder at the thought of what will happen to the world when the young grow up.

When a blatant preacher stands and shouts, "The young people of today are sending the world straight to hell!" (I quote verbatim) he is simply repeating what has been said in all languages in every age.

If the world has progressed, then the young of each generation have been better than those before them.

"It is almost impossible to know what a man will be, difficult to know what he is, but easy to know what he has been."

"One must neither distrust nor trust blindly in young people, and one must take care not to depend upon men, nor to condemn them; all is yet within them, the metal in a state of fusion is running into the mould."

"It is only God who knows what the statue will be."

Thus George Sands summed up what our attitude toward youth might be, if we were more charitable.

Youth believes that happiness is its due and its right; consequently it is natural that the later period of youth is troubled and made miserable by the pursuit of happiness, as though there were no doubt that it can be met with somewhere in life.

So it is that the young man is generally dissatisfied with the position in which he finds himself, whatever it may be; he ascribes his disappointment solely to the state of things that meets him on his first introduction to life, when he has expected something very different.

It has been said many times that it would be a great advantage to a young man if his early training could eradicate the idea that the world has a great deal to offer him.

But our first ideas of life are generally taken from fiction rather than from fact, and the usual result of education is to strengthen this delusion.

Remember that in the bright dawn of our youthful days, the poetry of life spreads out a gorgeous vision before us, and we torture ourselves to see it realized.

The youth expects his career to be like an interesting romance; and there lies the germ of that disappointment.

As the chief feature of the earlier half of life is a never satisfied longing after happiness, the latter half is characterized by the dread of misfortune.

So it is natural for age to criticize the conduct—the seekings after happiness—of youth and it always will be so.

Who's Who

Lord Reading's departure from India on a six months' leave of absence to consult with the British home government on a drastic reversal of the nationalist policy at Delhi, and the appointment of Lord Lytton during his absence, placing George's Plowden in the empire under the rule of a native of India. For Lord Lytton was born in 1876 at the viceregal hill station of Simla, not very long after his father, the late earl, so widely known in literature, and poetry as "Owen Meredith," had taken up his duties as governor-general of India. Indeed, the present Lord Lytton's early childhood was spent between Simla and Calcutta.

Not only is he a native of India, but, so too, is his brilliant wife, the former Pamela Plowden, so celebrated for her beauty, charm and cleverness at the time of her debut in London.

Lord Lytton has been civil lord of the admiralty and its parliamentary secretary, also British minister for propaganda in France during the great war and one of the representatives of the admiralty at the peace conference of Versailles.

Lord Lytton has inherited much of the literary ability of his father, who died as British ambassador to France, and also of his grandfather, Bulwer Lytton, the novelist.

MOTHER, BABE FOUND DEAD IN HOME

Former Glendale Woman, Two-Weeks-Old Child, Thought Suicide

Mrs. Anna Cadot, 25, formerly of Glendale, with her 2-weeks-old babe clasped in her arms, was found dead in her home, 3422 Perita avenue, Los Angeles, by her husband, Albert W. Cadot, yesterday afternoon when he returned from his work, and succeeded in breaking through a bathroom window when he found the outer door locked, and received no answer to his frantic calls. Suicide death certificates were signed today by the coroner, who said both mother and child met death by gas strangulation.

When Mr. Cadot reached his home he found a note on the front door which said:

"Gone away. Don't ring bell. Won't be home until late."

He went to the rear door after finding the front door locked, and forced an entrance. Failing to locate his wife and child, he discovered the bathroom door was also locked and he entered the death chamber by a window from the outside. The mother and babe were wrapped in one blanket.

Death of Father
News of the death of her father in the east, which was kept from her until after the birth of the child, was believed to have induced despondency and the resulting end in death.

Mrs. Cadot was born May 6, 1901 in New Jersey. The daughter, Barbara Jane, was born fifteen days ago in a local hospital. Funeral services for mother and daughter will be held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial park. L. G. Scovern is the director.

Contract Is Awarded For Work On Sewer

cluding vote, it will be retained by the city for future action.

Hickey announced that he will start work on the sewer within the next few days.

Causes Argument
A petition for the placing of Western avenue between Flower and Lake streets in the commercial zone also evoked a wordy battle on the floor of the council chamber, when City Manager Stone recommended that the petition be denied until all deeds had been obtained from property owners to permit a ten-foot sidewalk. Under present conditions buildings could be constructed within five feet of the curb, he told the council.

With Councilman Harry MacBain voting against approval of the petition, it was adopted with the understanding that unless all deeds are procured the final zoning ordinance will not be passed.

"I want to wait until the deeds are in the hands of the city before I vote for it," MacBain explained.

In the event the deeds to the east side of the street are not obtained within the next few weeks, a new petition asking the zoning of the west side of the street, where the ten-foot strip already has been given the city, will be introduced and probably acted upon favorably, it was indicated.

A number of property owners urged adoption of the petition.

"If the council adopts this petition now it will cost all of you people money," Stone asserted.

"Instead of backing it, you ought to be in here fighting to have it defeated. The council would have to start condemnation proceedings to get deeds in a few places and that would cost probably $600 to be assessed against all of you."

Meets Opposition
A petition to place Central avenue from Park to Acacia streets in the commercial zone, the only portion of Central not now in the commercial district, met with opposition from Councilman S. S. Gilhuly. Action was continued until next week.

With Gilhuly and MacBain opposing it, a 90-day permit to erect a real estate office on his own property at Kenneth road and Western avenue was granted to L. W. Jordan. A $500 bond must be posted by Jordan.

Gilhuly urged denial of the petition because Jordan maintains no down-town real estate office.

Petition to build a residence at 314 Sinclair avenue five feet closer to the street than other houses in the district in order to spare a big tree at the rear was denied with Councilman C. E. Kimlin and Gilhuly voting against denial. Refusal of the permit was recommended by the planning commission.

The council voted $5 for each of the election officials in the Casa Verdugo district and $2.50 for the janitor at the Grand View school for his aid as caretaker during the election. While City Clerk A. J. Van Wie asked $2 for him, Councilman Davis introduced a motion to pay him only $1. His motion was defeated.

Grade Crossing
The city attorney was instructed to petition the State Railroad commission for permission to construct a temporary grade crossing over the Pacific Electric tracks at Gardena avenue until the grade at Brand boulevard and the Southern Pacific tracks is changed.

A surplus of $13,400 in the budget, saved in various departments including $7,600 in the police and $5,800 in the fire department to date, was transferred to the un-

ARMADA PLOWS PACIFIC BENT ON MIGHTIEST BATTLE OF PEACEFUL TIMES

BULLETIN
HONOLULU, April 16.—The entire island of Oahu, on which Honolulu is located, is rapidly taking on a war aspect in preparation for the forthcoming theoretical land and sea battle to test its defenses. Troops are marching to positions, camps are springing up, trucks, tractors and field kitchens are thundering along the roads, while even at night-time searchlights and airplanes are kept busy. Submarines are being held in readiness to depart at a moment's notice to resist the "attacking" fleet.

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service.
ABOARD U. S. S. SEATTLE WITH UNITED STATES BATTLE FLEET, EN ROUTE TO HONOLULU, April 16.—Via wireless—The mightiest armada that ever plowed the Pacific ocean was today steaming westward towards its objective, the Hawaiian islands, prepared to re-capture them from the "enemy".

The Seattle maintaining its day lead over the rest of the fleet was the one "neutral" vessel on the Pacific. On board the umpires who will decide the fate of "battle" and award points in the "war" problems being worked by the fleet held a conference at which the details of their task were reviewed in detail.

The fleet, with its radios silenced, was proceeding in screened cruising formation today "somewhere off San Francisco" protecting its train of supply vessels and auxiliaries.

From today on the activities of the fleet will be governed by instructions prepared by the naval academy war college. These "sealed" instructions will guide the "attack" on Hawaii and will provide the various units of the fleet with many war time problems to be solved during the voyage to Honolulu.

War time routine prevailed on board the Seattle. Gunnery, collision and other drills designed to simulate war-time morale were on the program.

Woman Confesses To Slaying Her Family

ficient poison had been found in Harry's viscera to cause his demise.

Twenty-five cents' worth of arsenic purchased in Gary in 1920, after she had brooded three years over her husband's death sufficed for the slaying of Isabelle in 1920, Charles in 1922 and Walter in 1923. Walter died between Isabelle and Charles in 1921, she said.

Her determination to add David, Jr., her sole support, to the death list was evinced in her statement that two boxes of arsenic, purchased by Mae at her direction, accidentally were destroyed and she herself purchased fifty cents' worth to complete the deed. Bread, a layer of arsenic and a covering of butter was the medium of administering the poison between meals, as the children would join her in the kitchen and she, with a demoniac motherly kindness would offer them the death sandwich, according to the confession.

Denies Desire for Gold
Each of the children were insured, Isabelle for $1000; Harry for $2500; Charles for $800 and Walter for $200, but the confession denied desire for gold had played a part in actuating her unnatural wish. This amazing story was told in a droling monotone as the woman lay on a jail cot and, with little urging, calmly recited minute details of the crimes.

Brought from Gary shortly before, where she retained a lawyer to defend her mother, the daughter, Mae, stood at the foot of the cot and pleaded with her mother "not to talk."

"Don't say anything, mother," pleaded the girl, "these people just want to get a confession out of you."

"No, Mae," calmly replied her mother, "I am going to talk. I am tired of living here. I don't care what becomes of me. I'll never get out of here anyway."

A total of $11,500 was transferred from the reserve to the following accounts: $500 for an emergency touring car; $8,000 to the lighting department for additional lighting made necessary by the installation of ornamental lighting system; $2,500 to the city engineer's office and $500 for removal of sand and debris. The last two items were made necessary by recent rain storms. A total of $197.33 was transferred to the city physician's department for purchase of forty-two doses of rabies vaccine.

PICTURE THRILL FASHIONS CHANGE

Fire At Sea In 'Love's Whirlpool' Now At Glendale Theatre

Motion picture thrills, like women's fashions, are continually changing. Not so long ago train wrecks were the rage. This season the taste runs to ship wrecks. But a fire at sea is a comparative novelty; a "creation". This time it has been executed by Bruce Mitchell in "Love's Whirlpool," which closes a two-day run at the Glendale Theatre tonight.

The fire begins at the pre-dawn hour of three, when the passengers of a giant liner are deep in slumber. Flames blow off the hatch of right for'ard hold and, battling their way against the efforts of the ship's firefighters, send the terrified passengers dashing from their staterooms to huddle on the blistering deck.

With the fire gaining ground, panic sweeps through the ill-fated passengers. They rush the guards at the life boats, crowding into one little craft until its davit ropes break and the scrambling mass is precipitated into the sea, some to swim and others to sink.

Thrilling Action
The first scene is one of the most realistic and pulse thrilling actions of a photodrama ever pictured. James Kirkwood, Lila Lee and Madge Bellamy have leading roles, while others in the cast are Robert Agnew, Mathew Betz and Margaret Livingston.

On the stage the famous Polly Moran, "The Hollywood Chatterer" and familiar to every motion picture fan for her exploits as "Sheriff Nell" in western thrillers appears, has the latest news of the stars of moviedom. The charming Polly has, for the time being, given up riding, bucking broncos and arresting cattle rustlers for the footlights. Miss Moran has been in and out of the movies since their inception and knows all about the workings of that industry and her witticisms give many a laugh.

Dana & Mack, a versatile couple of vaudeville bright lights present a diversified style of entertainment which they term "A Twentieth Century Aesop's Fable."

Governor Richardson has accepted the chairmanship of the state committee which is to direct the campaign for the American Legion endowment fund in California. It is proposed to raise $5,000,000 in the United States to establish a fund for the disabled men and orphans of veterans. California's quota is $400,000. The actual campaign is to start in May. In taking the chairmanship, the governor said:

"It is with genuine pleasure that I accept the chairmanship of the state committee which is to direct the campaign for the American Legion endowment fund in California. No work is more necessary or important than that of rehabilitating the men who were disabled fighting for our country in the World war and of properly providing for the upbringing of the orphans of the patriots who sacrificed their lives in the great conflict."

"The American Legion's program of rehabilitation and child welfare is just and economical, and should receive the approval and active support of every good American."

Among the prominent Californians on President Coolidge's committee in charge of the campaign are Secretaries Hoover and Wilbur, William G. McAdoo, John R. Quinn and Mrs. Alma deBretteville Spreckles.

State Adjutant James K. Fisk of the American Legion will journey to Healdsburg this week to present an American Legion medal to Miss Grace Nichols a pupil in the Healdsburg high school. Miss Nichols was one of the 200,000 school children who contested last year in the legion's annual essay competition writing on the subject "Why is Communism a Menace to Americans?" The award is in the form of a beautiful silver medal symbolic of the contest and the legion.

National headquarters of the American Legion has set Thursday, April 30, to be observed as Americanism day throughout the country. This year marks the fifth annual roll call under the auspices of the legion of all patriotic, fraternal, educational and civic forces to emphasize the ideals and principles of American citizenship.

All religious denominations throughout the nation have been urged to speak Sunday, May 3, on the subject "For God and Country."

Americanism day was inaugurated by the legion to offset the propaganda and efforts of the radicals to spread lawlessness and violence throughout the world on May day, with their hope of bringing ultimate destruction to the government of the United States.

The 303 American Legion posts in California have been called upon by Morgan Keaton, state chairman of the Americanism committee to hold suitable exer-

SAWTELLE 'VETS' WILL SEE 'MANNA'

Saturday Matinee Set Aside For Disabled Men At Soldiers' Home

Two hundred disabled soldiers of the World war and the Spanish war will be guests of the Dobinson Players at the Saturday matinee of "Manna." Because the play is peculiarly appropriate, the governor of the Sawtelle Soldiers' home was very glad to co-operate by making possible the attendance of the veterans.

The Playhouse is broadcasting an appeal for cars to transport its guests. Those who are willing to drive a group of the men from Sawtelle to the Playhouse and back again after the performance are requested to leave their names and telephone numbers at the box office.

In order to reach the Playhouse in time for the matinee it will be necessary to leave the Soldiers' home at 1 o'clock. It is believed that there will be plenty of volunteers from the expressions on the opinion-cards which are distributed to the audiences at the Playhouse at every performance. "So glad that you have a play with a soldier theme," "Thank you for showing us something about our loyal defenders," "I have felt lately that we are forgetting the men who were in the World war and the sacrifices they made." These are characteristic statements penciled on the cards. Those who feel so will be glad to give part of an afternoon. Mrs. Dobinson feels, to bringing a little happiness into the lives of a few of the 3700 men at the home, many of whom are penniless.

Light Comedy Next
"Manna" will be followed next Monday by a light, amusing comedy, "Good Gracious, Anabelle," by Clare Kummer. "Gwendoline Morley, a poor girl at the mercy of her rich parents," will be played by Doris Lloyd, and all the other Playhouse favorites will be seen.

First act is laid in Hotel St. Swithin, New York, the second in the servants' hall at Wimbledon's country place, and the third in the lodge garden at Wimbledon's. Special scenery is being built. The play is lively and sprightly, without a serious thought, but with a very strong plot, which gives a legitimate excuse for the laughs which sprinkle plentifully through the three acts.

Reservations for "Manna" for the rest of the week are coming in strong, and the three weeks' engagement will close with a very satisfactory feeling on the part of Mrs. Dobinson and the Playhouse.

Car owners who are willing to drive the veterans to the Saturday matinee are again urged to call at the box office, or telephone, so that arrangements may be perfected before Saturday.

cises in their respective communities and to especially welcome at that time all newly made American citizens.

The largest gathering of American Legionnaires yet held in California is expected at the next state convention of that organization to be held at Avalon, Catalina Island, September 15 to 17.

During the second day of the assembly the former service men will stage an inter-post circus and carnival. Broncho-busters, wild animals from the legion's zoo, side shows, freaks, famous acrobats and clowns will all be impersonated by members from the many posts. State Commander Nathan F. Coombs has announced several prizes to be awarded to the posts presenting the most entertaining program.

'DEVIL'S CARGO' IS ON AT GATEWAY

Buster Collier And Pauline Starke In Story Of Old Times In California

A story that has all the atmosphere of the pioneer days of California without dragging in scenery after scene of purely historical and geographical interest, is what is claimed for the new Paramount picture, "The Devil's Cargo," which will be shown today, tomorrow and Saturday at the Gateway Theatre.

The picture is an adaptation of Charles Whittaker's "The River Boat." It's a dramatic story of California in 1850 when lawlessness ran riot, told in a forceful, straightaway manner.

The story deals with the advent in Sacramento of John Joyce (William Collier, Jr.) who comes to edit the local paper. He accidentally meets and falls in love with Faro Sampson and is greatly taken back when he learns that she is the daughter of a gambling hall proprietor.

Cast of Players
Joyce is of a more or less puritanical frame of mind and sides in with the vigilantes and their plans to deport the city's undesirable. Faro learns of it and "squares things up" with Joyce by exposing him in a very unfavorable light. He and his sister are deported with the rest, as a result.

A river boat leaves Sacramento with a motley array of passengers, gamblers, thieves, cut-throats. On the Pacific in a flimsy river boat, an innocent girl and one good man surrounded by a human cargo—"the scum of the earth."

Pauline Starke has the role of Faro in the production. She and Collier are featured with Wallace Beery and Claire Adams.

ASKS PUBLIC TO FIND BILL DING

Bentley Lumber Co. Reports He Is Missing; Can Not Locate Him In City

Written By DONALD R. GILLIN

Service Mgr., Bentley Lumber Co. The new employee at the Bentley Lumber Co., situated at 460 West Los Feliz road, was last seen in front of the Bentley offices the unlucky night of April 13, just after nightfall. The failure of Bill to make his appearance at the usual time this morning is causing a world of anxiety among his employers and family. Foul play is hinted, and no efforts will be left unturned to fully investigate.

Bill Ding, who came to the Bentley Lumber Co. not to wash the cups and saucers and clear the crumbs away, but to prove that he is the captain of industry which he is, has disappeared, and George Bentley wants to know where Bill has gone.

Visit Old Haunts
Bill's regular haunts and hangouts after working hours have been visited by the detectives on his trail, and up to 1 o'clock no definite results have been secured. As far as is known there is no marital trouble connected with Bill, and a telephone call at the mountain resort where Bill has recently erected a mountain cabin to spend the week-ends does not reveal any trace of him at that location.

Glendale police will be asked to maintain a keen lookout for Bill Ding, and any one who can shed a light on the mysterious disappearance is asked to co-operate with Chief of Police Fraser, or George Bentley.

'JAY-DRIVER' IS DEFINED BY CLUB

Many Who 'Cut In.' Speeds Past 'Blind' Is Fellow Pointed Out

We have heard a great deal about the "Jay-driver"; how about the "Jay-driver"? The "Jay-driver" is defined by the Safety First bureau of the National Automobile club as: The man who "cuts in."

The man who speeds past "blind" crossings.

The road "Hog."

The man who doesn't signal properly.

Are you a "Jay-driver"? The man who steps on the gas on the open road when the traffic is light is not as dangerous an individual as the "Jay-driver" who breaks the laws of courtesy and safety in the city or on the crowded thoroughfares outside.

Commonest Offense

The accident toll cannot be charged to the motor vehicle itself as statistics show that accidents due to the failure of the automobile to function properly are exceedingly few. The list of the dead and the injured is to be charged to the violation of the simple rule of safety, to carelessness, to recklessness, to driving a car while under the influence of liquor.

The commonest offense against the rules of safety is driving past a "blind" crossing without having the car under adequate control. Many a driver depends on his quickness in handling the wheel to avoid a collision and "take a chance" to avoid the annoyance of slowing down.

There is a good, sound reason in fifteen mile speed limits and they were provided for the protection of the motorist himself. When these "safety zone" limits are violated, the motorist is not only increasing his own hazard but becomes a menace to the safety of others.

Wrong Signal Confusing to Cars Behind

The driver making a wrong signal not only invites tragedy for himself, but threatens other cars on the road, according to investigations of the legal department of the Automobile club of Southern California. Every driver should use the utmost care in making accurate signals and easily discernible. Slipshod, indifferent signaling confuses those behind the car about to turn or stop. Improper signaling has caused many a costly accident.

CHRYSLER GIVES STEADY SERVICE

W. A. Keen Drives His Car 22,000 Miles Without Needing Repairs

Twenty-two thousand miles of steady service, that has included two trips during the winter season into Arizona, traveling over all kinds of roads, has failed to develop any defect in the first Chrysler car that was delivered in the Glendale territory by the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, local distributors.

The purchaser of the car, W. A. Keen, 1445 Thompson street, Glendale, this week informed the president of the company, Lyman P. Clark, that the car is running better today than it was when he first bought it and that he has never spent a cent for repairs on the car since he has had it.

In one of his recent trips to Phoenix, Mr. Keen covered 2000 miles, and he did not add either oil or water during all of that distance. The average mileage that the Chrysler delivered was 21 miles to the gallon, and on the return trip he covered 542 miles in 13 hours and 55 minutes.

Motor Works Perfectly

"There has never been any necessity for having the slightest work done on the motor," Mr. Keen says, "and my experience with the Chrysler has convinced me that there isn't an automobile anywhere near its class, no matter what the price, that can compare with the Chrysler for general, all-round efficiency and for delivering the goods whenever and wherever a call is made on its resources and its immense reserve of power."

"I wouldn't trade my Chrysler for any other car that I know, and the service that is rendered by the Glendale Motor Car Co.'s organization is such as to meet with the unqualified approval of any Chrysler owner."

Another fault of the times is too much birth control and not enough control of the youngsters after they are born.

ROUTES NORTH DESCRIBED AS 'FIT'

Valley Route Excellent, Ridge Road Rigidly Enforcing Speed Regulations

The valley route between San Francisco and Los Angeles is in excellent shape, according to the Touring Bureau of the National Automobile club, and has been prepared to take care of the record travel expected over this route during the heavy touring months.

The addition of concrete shoulders to the macadam surface and the improvement of the surface condition of the road throughout has done a great deal to add to the safety of travel and to permit rapid transit.

The widening of the highway also reduces the danger of glaring headlights and the strain of eye and hand in holding the car on the road.

The Ridge route suffered little this year from weather conditions, as there were few slides during the recent heavy downpours and the debris from the slides which did occur was removed immediately.

Ridge Route Fit

Motorists are cautioned to keep within the speed limits in traveling the Ridge route, as severe penalties are meted out to offenders. A fifteen-mile limit has been set on the curves where a clear view of the road ahead is not to be had and motorists should keep on their own side of the road to guard against accident. This route has a heavy truck traffic as well as passenger cars and the strict regulations imposed are stringently enforced by an efficient corps of traffic officers.

The highways entering Los Angeles, San Fernando boulevard in particular, which was in a deplorable condition last season, has been resurfaced and widened so that the chief entry way into the metropolis of Southern California is ready for the influx of tourists from the north.

OAKLAND WEEK IS CELEBRATED HERE

Officials Of Factory Visit Southern California and Local Agency

This has been Oakland week in Southern California and the occasion has been featured by the presence here of numerous officials and representatives of the Oakland Motor Car Co., according to John Neuschaefer, 420 East Colorado street, Glendale distributor.

Starting with the arrival of William Tracy, assistant director of sales, the first of the week, came A. L. McMeans, San Francisco district manager, and Eddie Lyons, globe-trotting service representative, and a corps of sales efficiency directors, who are conducting a nation-wide school of automotive salesmanship.

"The Oakland Motor Car Co. recognizes Southern California as one of the most important motor markets in the country and it aims to keep in closer touch with conditions here than ever before," says Neuschaefer. "The Oakland car has taken its place among the leaders in the industry and it is the purpose of the factory officials to keep it there."

SUPERIOR POWER BOAST OF JEWETT

Hill Climbing Ability Is Now Coupled With Perfection In All Parts

When the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co. had proved through a score of hill climbs and other competitions with rival manufacturers that its Jewett Six was superior in performance to the products of the rivals, attention of the engineering department was turned to the many refinements that go into the power plant and chassis of a motor car.

But superior power and performance did not satisfy the Jewett engineers, according to D. R. Tompkins of the D. R. Tompkins Motor Co., 219 West Colorado boulevard, Glendale dealers. Even the most minute details must be worked out, they said. Among these was absolute elimination of noise and vibration in the water pump and generator assembly. It was finally decided that an auxiliary shaft would do the job.

The shaft will carry a load of 10 horse-power at 1500 revolutions of the motor per minute and will not break under a 2000 pound pressure. A flexible connection saves the generator and pump from any dangers which may come through misalignment.

PRODUCTION NOW 1000 CARS DAILY

Hudson And Essex Factories Kept Busy Supplying Heavy Demand

One thousand cars a day, the biggest six-cylinder business in the automobile industry, are now being built in the Hudson-Essex factories in Detroit, according to Porter A. Kelley of the Kelley Motor Co., 816 South Brand boulevard, Glendale distributors.

Ninety per cent of this immense business is in the popular Hudson-Essex coaches, he said. The coach type of body was originated by the Hudson organization three years ago, and this concern now has had the experience of building nearly a quarter of a million of them.

"This great volume of business which has brought Hudson-Essex into an indisputable six cylinder leadership for the whole industry," said Kelley, "has been a steady growth over the period in which the coach has been built. There probably has never been a single type of body in the whole history of the business which has had such a phenomenal success."

A sinking ship in the English channel was saved when an airman who observed its plight sent out repeated signals until assistance was being sent.

URGENT 'DON'TS' FOR TOURING PARTIES

Warnings Issued By Auto Club Tell Of Needy Car Accessories

Are you or your friends planning to take any long tours? Do you know all there is to know about long-distance touring, or would a few words of warning in regard to such long trips from the touring bureau of the Automobile club of Southern California be of interest?

Here are some of the "don'ts" from the club, and every one of them is important whether you are taking a long trip or a short one—in regard to the equipment of your car and person:

Don't allow the car to be without provisions or food of some sort at any time.

Don't fail to have warm clothing in the outfit. The high altitudes in the west are cold and dry air is penetrating.

Don't forget the yellow goggles. In driving west you have to face the sun all afternoon and the glare is hard on the eyes.

Don't drive through water without first ascertaining the depth.

Don't wait until your gasoline is almost gone before filling up. There might be a delay or it might not be obtained at the next point where a supply station is expected.

Don't allow your water canteens to be other than full of fresh water and keep them filled.

The burst of a water hose or a sudden leak in your radiator might occur between garages.

Night Walker Is Asked to Keep to Left

Persons walking along the highways at night are in far greater danger from autos than in the daytime, according to investigations by the public safety department of the Automobile club of Southern California. The driver at night cannot see dark objects well because of the constantly shifting lights from approaching cars. Sometimes the glare is so great that there is momentary blindness on the part of the car operator. The moral is: If you walk on the roads at night, keep to the left side for safety.

In the belief that a taste of real comfort will make the "knights of the road" dissatisfied with their wandering life, the Poor Law authorities of this town have turned the local workhouse into a work mansion.

DRIVER URGED TO READ ALL WARNINGS

Auto Club Offers Suggestion In View Of Number Of Excuses In Arrest

Watch the signs!

This brief but pointed suggestion is offered by the Automobile club of Southern California in view of the large number of excuses being given by arrested drivers that they did not see any warning. The club advises that all drivers get the sign-reading habit.

Ignorance of road signs is in the same category as ignorance of the law, when a driver is haled into court. It should be borne in mind, suggests the auto club, that signs are not placed merely to give the signposting crew exercise, but each has a definite function. Thousands of arrests would be averted if drivers would acquire the habit of noticing caution signs. Every month adds to the number, and unless the practice of observance is acquired by drivers, they not only lay themselves liable to arrest frequently, but to accident, through failure to observe warnings.

Watch the signs and avoid accident and law violation.

Central heating are provided, the floors are covered with linoleum, and the hobo is able to take his choice of comfortable chairs at a long, polished table.

Newspapers, a piano, and spring-mattressed beds are other features of this "home from home."

You'd Never Know the Ruts and Holes Were There

THE roads haven't changed. But you're not conscious of their roughness when you ride in the New Paige or the New Jewett. Step right along. Never mind those bumps. All you feel is a slow, gentle motion as you cross them.

The reason for this restful, new riding comfort? Easily understood. First—balloon tires. But that alone isn't enough. A brand new type of spring suspension gives you the full benefit of balloon tires.

Next—springs are unusually long—Paige's more than five feet—Jewett's nearly half its wheelbase! And husky weight—to hold the road. That's the answer.

And even with the added road friction of balloon tires you steer with effortless touch-control. Special gearing and ball-bearing steering spindles account for that.

And there's giant strength in these two cars. And the beauty of the costliest cars.

And such limitless power! From big, superbly balanced, moderate-speed six-cylinder motors that are never even taxed—so they last longer.

Take the wheel of a New Paige or Jewett. These marvelous cars will tell their own story. Call or telephone us today. (548-3)

EISTEDDFOD HAS NOW 200 ENTRIES

Glendale District Contests
To Open One Week
From Sunday

More than 200 entries already have been made in the Glendale District Eisteddfod. R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of recreation, announced today. These entries represent the participation of more than 500 people in contests for choirs, choruses, dancing groups, bands, glee clubs, one-act plays, scenes from Shakespeare and individual entries in music and art, Mr. Tucker said. Entries are coming in rapidly this week and many organizations and individuals have assured the committee that they will file blanks before the closing date, April 18. The executive board of the Eisteddfod, which is being sponsored by Glendale Community Service, pleased over the interest shown in the new movement for community progress in music, art and drama, Mr. Tucker said. Dozens of organizations are to take part, with hundreds of students in the local and nearby high and elementary schools included.

The committee is now busy on the program by days, for the Contest Week, which will occur April 26 to May 2. Various departments will be so grouped that complete evening programs will be presented in addition to afternoon and Saturday morning events. Season tickets for the programs and for the art exhibit are on sale for $1.00 each; children 50 cents. Individual admissions will be 25 cents and 10 cents.

All persons planning to take part are urged to enter this week at headquarters, 150 South Brand boulevard, Glendale, or to mail entry blanks and fees to Mr. Tucker at that address.

OLDSMOBILE SETS ENDURANCE MARK

Numerous Records Held For Cross Country Runs In
U. S. And Elsewhere

More endurance records have been made by the present six cylinder Oldsmobile than any other of the various Oldsmobile models dating back to the first one-lunged of 1897, although the making of records always has been a strong point with this pioneer of the automotive industry, declares C. H. Hunter, 208 West Broadway, distributor in Glendale for Oldsmobile cars.

"The present six cylinder Oldsmobile was introduced in the fall of 1923, when a stock car made the run from New York to Los Angeles, with all gears but high removed from the transmission," he said. "No car had ever before succeeded in making all the mountain climbs of this route in high gear, much less negotiate the entire trip in that manner. The car was driven by 'Cannon-Ball' Baker, the famous race driver. The total distance covered was 3674 miles, and was made in 12½ days driving time. Gasoline mileage was 28.7 miles per gallon, while only 1½ pints of oil were consumed. Some months later this feat was duplicated by a stock Oldsmobile in Australia, where, while the cross-continent distance was shorter, the test was considered as strenuous owing to bad roads.

"Among other endurance records made during the past year was a seven-day non-stop run during which 5310 miles of California roads were covered. Never for an instant during this week's run was the engine allowed to stop, and no adjustments of any kind were found necessary. Another run was a round trip between Pasadena and Phoenix, Ariz., a distance of 908 miles, over mountains and across deserts, which was made in 31 hours and 21 minutes.

"As far back as 1903 Oldsmobiles were in the forefront as record makers. In that year Oldsmobiles carried off first and second prizes at an endurance contest held in England, and lasting eight days. At about the same time, the little curved dash forerunners of the present six-cylinder model obtained first class certificates at a similar contest held in this country."

NASH MOTORS SET RECORD IN MARCH

Unusual Demand For Cars,
Says Head of Company;
Expects Big Year

All previous sales and production of the Nash Motors Co. have been swept aside, figures on the company's books showing that March was the biggest month in the history of Nash motors," declares Charles McDaniel, head of the McDaniel Motor Co., 1234 South Brand boulevard.

"The shattering of Nash sales records began in the fall, shortly after the introduction of the new series of special and advanced series of cars," said H. McCarty, general sales manager of the Nash Motors Co. "October outstripped all previous records in our history. Then along came February, with a new sales and production record and now March has taken the lead over February. Incidentally March shipments from the factory were 49 per cent greater than the shipments of March, 1924.

"The situation with respect to the demand for Nash cars is further emphasized by the fact that the entire automobile industry during March had about 10 per cent less business than during March 1924. And added to this, even though last month was Nash motors' biggest production month, there were in our hands bona fide orders for about 2000 cars that we were unable to ship because we could not produce sufficient automobiles to fill the demand."

IMMORTALITY IS SEEN BY SCIENTIST

Noted English Doctor Shows
20 Years Already Are Added to Life

LONDON, April 16.—Twenty years have been added to the span of human life during the last eighty years and the end is not yet.

One hundred years from now man may confidently expect to live to the ripe age of 150 years and a few centuries later he may even hope, with some chance of his hope materializing, to be immortal.

This is the rosy picture of the future painted by Sir Ronald Ross, famous British scientist, who claims that the length of human life has been increased by 50 per cent during the last century, largely by medical science in the treatment and prevention of disease.

"Eighty years ago," according to Sir Ronald, "the average London man lived thirty-four years and seven months and the average London woman lived thirty-

PRaises NEWS ON CAMPAIGN POLICY

Charles A. Rudel Appreciates
Stand Taken Prior To Municipal Election

Charles A. Rudel sent the following self-explanatory communication to The Glendale Evening News:

"A. T. Cowan, Publisher, The Glendale Evening News:
"Dear Mr. Cowan—I desire to take this means of extending to you my congratulations upon your stand on the recent city election, and to personally thank you for your fairness to the candidacy of Miss Ruth Kern, the only woman on the ticket, and in whom I was especially interested.

"First—Because she is eminently qualified for the position.

"Second—Because I am heartily in favor of encouraging women to take more interest in our municipal government, as it has been demonstrated that greater reforms have taken place in our governmental affairs since suffrage has been given to them than in any other period of our history, and I am firmly convinced that the ultimate solution of most of the difficulties that may exist in our local government will be solved by the women.

"Third—Because Miss Kern is a young woman of exemplary character, and her charming personality will reflect credit to the city she represents.

"The people of Glendale surely appreciate the policy you have pursued in the campaign just closed. You had no slate, you abused no one, and treated all candidates alike. In your editorial columns you gave the names of all the candidates, advocated clean government, and published letters of citizens recommending various candidates. Inasmuch as the letters you published were free from personalities, I must assume that you refused many that were otherwise, as there appears to be a certain element always ready to resort to abuse and personalities.

"It must, indeed, be a gratification to you, after a strenuous campaign such as we had in Glendale, that your paper emerged without having incurred a feeling of resentment on the part of any candidate, and with the satisfaction of knowing that through your efforts a new city administration has been elected by the majority of the voters, who represent the best citizenship of 'The Fastest Growing City in America.'"

"CHARLES A. RUDEL."

OPEN FORD COUPE CONTEST AGAIN

Ever-Ready Service Station
Will Give Car Away;
Last One Success

For several months Harry J. Seely, proprietor of the Ever-Ready Service station, located at the corner of Broadway and Central avenue has been besieged with requests to run another Ford Coupe contest and now that summer is drawing near and motoring will be on in full blast, Mr. Seely has decided to start another contest similar to the one concluded last December.

The Ford Coupe purchased from a local Glendale dealer, is on display at the Ever-Ready Service Station. The rules of the contest, which, according to Mr. Seely, started Wednesday, are very simple. With every $1 purchase of any article of merchandise which is carried in stock at the station a ticket which is good on the Ford Coupe will be given free of charge. Mr. Seely states that he handles the famous McClaren tires and tubes, he has a washing and greasing service unexcelled, vulcanizing service, also auto accessories, confections and tobaccos.

There is another special feature of the Ever-Ready Service Station, Mr. Seely said, and that is the fact that the gasoline that is dispensed at this service station is of the best and highest test. Mr. Seely is offering a reward of $100 to anyone who can prove that at any time has his station had for sale any inferior gasoline. The price of gasoline at this station is still 17 cents a gallon, which is saving 1½ cents a gallon, he states, there are no coupon books to purchase. Mr. Seely's reason for keeping the price of his gasoline down is to gain volume business and keep it at a price that everyone can afford.

eight years and four months.

Adds to Life
"Today the average length of life of the London man is fifty-three years and nine months, and of the London woman fifty-nine years. These are the figures I have gleaned from the official statistics."

"That miraculous progress will not stop. A great scientist at the Pasteur institute in Paris has said that in 100 years' time man should live to the age of 150. Why not?"

"A famous American doctor has suggested to me that we should all be immortal. Who can tell what scientific investigation may bring? No one can say how long we may live when we are free from the ravages of germs."

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

No. 1

Question: Why are more women driving Buicks than any other make of six-cylinder car?

Answer: One reason is the striking appearance of this famous motor car. Then comes Buick dependability. A woman knows when she starts out with her Buick that she will "get there and back." Other reasons are—the comfort in driving a Buick—the velvet clutch action, easy steering; then the power and quietness of Buick's Valve-in-Head engine and the safety of Buick mechanical four-wheel brakes.

EQUITY RULES REDISTRICT MEASURE

Weller Says Boggs' Proposal Would Act Favorably To Southland

By GIL A. COWAN
Special Correspondent of
The Glendale Evening News

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—Redistricting legislative balliwicks of California is proposed in three measures set for special order of business today. First fight is expected on the Chamberlain bill. There is hope for nearly equitable division in 1929 if the Jones bill, which follows the Chamberlain measure in debate, is passed, and Boggs' constitutional amendment for three-eighths, five-eighths redistricting after 1931 is adopted. The Jones bill hinges on the adoption by the people in 1927 of the Boggs amendment, and is a bait to gain Los Angeles' support.

Both Senator Harry A. Chamberlain and Assemblyman Frank C. Weller, chairmen of Los Angeles caucuses in their respective groups, agree that Boggs' amendment is favorable to the southern metropolis. In that Legislature would be divided as follows:

Re-District Plan
Twenty-five senators, or five-eighths control of upper House, would be reserved to fifty-five cov counties.

Fifteen senators, or three-eighths control, would be given three largest counties—Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda.

Assembly would be divided strictly on population basis, giving control of lower House to urban centers.

Compromise between Los Angeles and cov counties may result, if there is any chance of passing the Jones bill and Boggs' amendment. But the latter requires twenty-seven votes in the Senate, and these are questionable, in view of the fact that San Francisco and Alameda might unite against Los Angeles.

Showing the attitude of San Francisco on the subject, Assemblyman Walter Schmidt of the Bay city, during debate in the lower House yesterday, said:

"Let's throw this reapportionment business into the ash can."

Weller Bill Up
Today the Sonoma home for delinquent women, which would be re-established by two Weller bills, is the principal fight before the Assembly.

Transfer of the gasoline tax fight to the Assembly today, where Senator Arthur H. Breed's measure, adding another cent for new highway construction, will be sent to the revenue and taxation committee, presided over by Assemblyman Sidney Graves, administration member, will bring a new fight over the budgeting of the highway commission's work, it is predicted.

Well-informed circles report that Governor Richardson does not believe the Senate amendments budgeting the highway commission's contemplated construction are feasible.

The governor takes the attitude, according to these informants, that the highway commission will become a political football, highways will be put in a jackpot for logrolling, and sectional ill-will can only result, as was evidenced when the south was given the major portion of the remaining 1925 funds in a budget presented the Senate committee by Chairman Harvey Toy of the highway commission.

Yesterday's Work
The Senate yesterday afternoon passed the Southern California metropolitan water district bill by Senator A. Burlingame Johnson, Pasadena.

Heisinger legislative reapportionment bill, providing for redistricting of the state on a population basis for the Assembly and on a territorial basis in the Senate, was defeated in the Assembly late yesterday by a vote of forty-three ayes and thirty-two noes. A two-thirds majority was necessary to pass the measure.

PACKARD OWNERS KEEP SAME CARS

Long-Life Expectations Are Fulfilled, Glendale Dealer Declares

Persons who purchase a Packard car are loath to part with it, according to W. H. Daniel, head of the Dixie Motor Co., 1129 South Brand boulevard, distributors in Glendale for the Packard cars. Packard owners get so much pride out of the appearance of their car, and such constant service, that they keep them for years, he said.

Mr. Daniel cites the example of one city, Wilkesbarre, Pa., where 216 Packard Six cars were purchased during the past five years. All but three of these cars are still in service and owned by the original purchaser, Mr. Daniel said.

The Packard cars, fill long-life expectations, he said, which accounts for the absence of "trading about" among Packard owners. Many Packard owners expect to keep their cars ten years or longer, he said.

Georgia bankers raised a fund for a three-year farm development campaign.

M. V. CONKLIN
M. V. Conklin, for twenty-five years a resident of Princeville, Ill., where he served as postmaster under the administrations of Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson, and a resident and property owner for four years in Glendale, died Tuesday, April 14, 1925, at a local hospital from basal fracture of the skull, received that same day, when he was overcome by the heat at a house he owned at 450 West Harvard street and fell from a ladder on which he was standing painting.

Mr. Conklin was born seventy-one years ago in Bath, Ill., where he grew to manhood. He later made his home in Kilbourne, Ill., where he was married. They found Glendale a home city of happiness and two years ago celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary here.

Possessed of an alert mind and good health Mr. Conklin appeared a man of much younger years. He was interested in civic and national affairs and, although retired, kept busy looking after his business interests.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Virginia E. Conklin; four daughters, Mrs. J. D. Rathbun of 223 West Colorado street, Mrs. T. J. Kelly, who resides at the family home, and Mrs. B. W. Crowe and Miss Ruth G. Conklin of Los Angeles, and one son, H. G. Conklin, who resides at the family home.

AUTO LEADERSHIP HELD BY BUICKS

Valve-In-Head Motor Finds Favor With Motoring Public, Says Dealer

It is generally known that Buick leadership in the automobile industry dates from the inception of the car itself, according to William A. Tanner of Tanner & Hall, 622 South Brand boulevard, local dealers. "It is difficult," he said, "even for men who have been in the automobile business from its beginning to recall a time when Buick was not well known and held in high favor by the motoring public."

"This is not at all remarkable because public recognition of Buick leadership began with the introduction of the famous Buick valve-in-head engine, more than twenty years ago. It created a sensation in the automobile world by reason of the excess power that it furnishes with small gasoline consumption."

"Experience soon showed that it was practical, and Buick cars became popular with the motorists of those days. It was soon apparent that Buick had not taken this leadership temporarily but meant to keep it. And it has."

All-Year Club Plans Jubilee Celebration

Plans for making the remainder of 1925 a jubilee year for Southern California will be worked out by the All Year club at a meeting in Los Angeles tomorrow afternoon. Howard I. ## Bill Asks Award For Girl Shot By Guard

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—Recommendation that the Legislature pass a bill introduced by Senator H. C. Nelson of Eureka, providing for payment of $5000 to Miss Pearl Green, a Trinity county girl, who was shot in the arm by a prison guard while trailing escaped convicts from road camps, was made by the Senate finance committee.

Senator Nelson said residents of Trinity county have been terrorized by reckless shooting on the part of guards hunting convicts in the mountains.

The shooting of Miss Green occurred in 1922. Senator Nelson charged that while the 13-year-old girl with a companion was taking mail from the road side letter box, the guard fired and shot her in the arm, which is now shorter than normal.

DECIDE SECOND PLACE IN LEAGUE

Radio And Calla Lily Teams Will Battle Tonight At Harvard Gym

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

One of those honest-to-goodness basketball games is scheduled for tonight at the Harvard High school gym when the Calla Lily aggregation and the Radios meet to decide which team shall be entitled to second place in the Glendale Merchants' league. The Radios won, 29 to 27, in an extra-period game, early in the first round, and the milkmen upset the Radios, 27 to 16, in the second round.

Tonight's game will virtually close the basketball season, unless some of the games scheduled for tonight at the Harvard and the Christian church teams are played. The Huli Trucks finished in first place with eleven wins and one defeat, and the Radios and Milkmen are in second place with nine wins and three defeats each.

Players of both teams have been resting up for nearly two weeks and are in good condition for tonight's battle. It will be a tossup, with the team getting the breaks carrying off the victory. The game will start at 7:30 o'clock and there will be no admission charge.

PLAYERS IN CRASH

NEW YORK, April 16.—Play was halted for a short time here in the fifth inning of yesterday's Brooklyn-Philadelphia clash in Brooklyn when players started a battle. Jack Fournier, the Brooklyn first sacker, and Benj. Myers, a rookie, staged the battle as Fournier took his position in the field. Players of both teams separated the players and Umpire Hart sent both combatants to the showers. Johnston replaced Fournier at first.

'VET' MAT MAN THROWS CHAMP

Zbyszko Gets Title When He Pins Wayne Munn Down For Straight Falls

PHILADELPHIA, April 16.—Stanislaus Zbyszko, at the age of 55, is again heavyweight wrestling champion of the world today. The Pole won the world's title last night in straight falls from Wayne "Big" Munn of Nebraska, in less than 14 minutes.

The first fall, which came in eight minutes and 11 seconds, was the result of a forearm hold followed by the deadly headlock. Beginning with a forearm hold, Zbyszko got Munn into a hammer lock in the second fall and the world's heavyweight championship changed hands. The second fall took four minutes and 53 seconds.

Zbyszko had complete mastery over his 265 pound opponent at almost every stage of the match. Munn's representative, it was reported, declared that the Nebraska giant was ill last night when he entered the ring.

Baseball Schedule To Open Here Tomorrow

The Central league baseball schedule will open tomorrow afternoon when the Glendale Dynamiters meet the Monrovia High school team at Broadway field. The game is scheduled to start at 3:30 o'clock, and Coach Eugene Wolfe has his men all primed to cop the initial contest. He will start Smith on the mound for the Dynamiters.

Following the sensational victory Tuesday in the annual Central league track and field meet, when Glendale scored nearly twice as many points as their nearest competitors, Coach N. C. Hayhurst is thinking about entering some of his crack track men in the invitational meet at Pasadena tomorrow.

California Hurdler Is Declared Ineligible

BERKELEY, April 16.—On almost the same eve of the "big meet" when California will meet Stanford in track and field competition, Arthur C. Alderette, California star hurdler, was declared ineligible for participation in a statement issued today by Dean H. J. Hildebrand. Alderette's participation under Olympic club colors and loss of a year's participation due to transfer from another institution were the reasons given.

Four St. Louis Players Are Ill With Influenza

ST. LOUIS, April 16.—Four veteran regulars of the St. Louis Browns, American league club, Dave Danforth, Ernie Wingard, pitchers, Hank Severid, catcher, and Joe Evans, outfielder, were stricken with influenza today. Arrangements were being made to move them from their hotel to a hospital at once. Their illness is a critical blow to the Browns lineup.

LAWRENCE DERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925. NEW YORK, April 16.—In view of Washington's fifteen-length victory over California on Oakland estuary on Saturday, a glance at the aquatic history of the university on Lake Washington may be regarded as quite in order.

The Huskies appear first to have organized a crew for intercollegiate rowing 21 years ago, but it was not until Hiram Conibear, who had been a trainer for a big league baseball team and had never swung a sweep, came to the Seattle University in 1907 that Washington began to be one of the leading institutions in the country.

The record from that year, 1907, to the present time follows: 1907, at Seattle, Washington first; Stanford second; 1908 at Seattle, Washington first; California second; 1909, at Oakland, Stanford first; Washington second; 1910, at Seattle, Wash., Stanford; 1911, at Seattle, Wash., Washington; 1912, at Oakland, Calif., Washington; 1913, at Seattle, Wash.; Stanford; 1914, at Oakland, Washington, Stanford; California; 1915, at Oakland, Stanford, Washington, California; 1916, at Seattle, Washington, Stanford; 1917, at Oakland, Washington, Stanford, California; 1918, at Oakland (Edward Leader now coach) Washington, Washington, California, Stanford; 1919, at Oakland, Stanford; 1920, at Seattle, Washington, California; 1921, at Oakland, Calif., Washington; 1922, at Seattle, Wash., Washington; 1923 (Russell Caldwell, now coach) at Oakland, Washington, California; at Seattle, Washington, California; 1924, at Oakland, Washington, California; 1925, at Oakland, Washington, California.

In three races against Wisconsin, the Badgers defeated the Huskies by four lengths on Lake Mendota in 1910 and Washington defeated Wisconsin in 1922 and 1923, at Madison.

Washington's first appearance at Poughkeepsie was in 1913 when Syracuse won. Cornell was second and the Huskies third. In 1914 Washington finished fifth, astern of Columbia and ahead of Wisconsin. In 1922 she was second to the great navy crew in 1923 and 1924 Washington was first on the Hudson.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP BY FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925. NEW YORK, April 16. Mike McGuire's action in signing up with Tex Rickard for a fight with Paul Berlenbach as the leading attraction of the Milk Fund bouts disposes of all speculation as to the topline feature of this famous show.

Tex Rickard's fine Italian hand is seen not to have lost its cunning while those who have been asserting that Mike McGuire had a weak heart when it came to meeting real fighters will have to reverse their opinions. McGuire, it is generally believed, will earn about $50,000 as a result of his willingness to risk sudden oblivion in front of Berlenbach's fists.

When Jack Kearns and Teddy Hayes returned to Los Angeles from the east the other day the dapper manager was approached for information concerning the plans of the world champion. To which Kearns replied: "You know more about Dempsey than I do."

Which is regarded in Los Angeles as the tip-off as to relations between the champion and his manager. In fact, promoters in Southern California fully believe that Jack has quit the ring and Jack Doyle of Vernon proposes to nominate Harry Wills as Dempsey's successor and to give him a diamond belt emblematic of the championship—provided Wills will meet Geo. Godfrey in Vernon. Wills may accept a date following the Weinert cake walk.

FIVE RUN RALLY

A five-run rally in the second staked the Senators to a 5 to 2 decision over the Yankees in a game that was halted at the end of the sixth inning because some one forgot to equip the players' caps with coal miners' lamps.

FOURNIER WINS

Jack Fournier, Brooklyn first baseman, got the newspaper decision over Benny Myers, Philadelphia coach, in a limited round bout, which was halted to save the spectators from further punishment. Oh, yes; the Dodgers won the ball game, 6 to 4.

Mixes Weight With Curves

GARLAND BUCKEYE, who tipped the Fairbanks at 240 pounds when he alighted from the train at Lakeland, Fla., and started getting in shape with the Cleveland Indians, has shown Big Chief Speaker so many fast, fancy and otherwise curves that the heavyweight was retained for the season.

GARLAND BUCKEYE

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News

One day early in the spring the sleeper from the north pulled into Lakeland, Fla. Fourteen bags, two hat boxes, five golf bags and a banjo case emerged ahead of Bimbo, the aisle Russell. Then off stepped Bimbo himself. Came a pause—and then a man.

He squeezed through the door onto the platform, head drawn in and shoulders folded over his chest. Twenty minutes later he registered at the hotel as "Mr. Garland Buckeye." Some Garland. He draped himself over two big leather chairs and awaited for the world to move by.

His presence gave the Cleveland Indians the biggest pitcher in captivity. He weighed just 240 pounds when he lumbered onto the scales next day.

Shows Fast Curve

That poundage drew him attention—plenty of it. But not so much favorable comment. It takes a great ball player to lug 240 pounds around the big leagues. But when Garland got down to business the amusement ceased.

By the time he had appeared in two exhibition games, Manager Speaker was revamping his rating of the young hurlers. Now this giant is figured in the list of pitchers who will be kept through the season.

Garland has a slow ball that is a "pip." Buckeye gets tired hooking over the slow one all the time and cuts loose with a fast one. And man, oh man, what a fast ball he has!

Has Big Legs

Buckeye was one of the boys you were supposed to tell it to during the war—the Marines. Emerging from service he joined the ranks of the semi-pros around Chicago. He will go into the big league campaign under 240. He has taken off at least fifteen pounds of that. His form cannot be slender, however.

And his legs! They're worth the price of admission. They reminded me of monolithic pillars, such as adorn the most pretentious banks. But he can pitch. And that, after all, is the main requisite of a pitcher. So watch Mr. Garland Buckeye.

Middleweight Title Regained By Meyers

CHICAGO, April 16.—The world's middleweight wrestling crown rested again on the head of Johnny Meyers today as a result of his victory last night over Lou Talaber. Talaber won the first fall with a reverse double wrist lock in 18:20, Meyers conceding the fall rather than have his arm broken. He went on the defensive in the second. It took him 1:13:05 to win the second fall with a head lock but only 4:20 to make his body scissors and headlock effective for the deciding fall.

TRIM TIGER CLAWS

Earl Sheeley again was a very offensive person and the White Sox evened the series at one all by beating the Tigers 9 to 6. Sheeley's triple in the second started the ball rolling and it seldom stopped.

CARDINALS LOSE

The Reds made it two in a row over the Cardinals, 4 to 2, thanks to the commendable pitching of Senor Luque.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925. NEW YORK, April 16.—Connie Mack's quick action in attempting to patch the hole at first base created when Hauser broke his knee, may hold the Philadelphia Athletics in the first division this season. Poole of Portland, Oregon, has been pushed into the gap and if Hauser's knee never recovers so that he can play fast ball again, Poole will carry on better than a novice. Meantime, the Athletics, like three or four other major league clubs, will be digging into the minors in search of high class first base material.

Brooklyn was urged to take Poole on some time ago, not so much because Fournier cannot wallop the ball as because he is acquiring a growth of feet which is handicapping his speed. But Brooklyn passed Poole up, probably figuring that the first base question could be let go one more year, anyhow.

Cincinnati also was urged to get Poole and there are some Cincinnati who think Jack Hendricks turned down a good chance when he passed up Poole for Bresler, the outfielder whom he is trying to convert into a first baseman.

Pittsburgh too was urged in some quarters to acquire Poole, in addition Niekhus, in order that the team might be doubly fortified at first base. Niekhus is coming along finely, but the ill luck that has been pursuing Pittsburgh as well as other teams has developed a slight injury to Niekhus which may retard his speed at the start, when he needs it so much.

Poole battled 353 for Portland last year. Duffy Lewis, who once was with the Yanks, batted 392. That will give the best line on Poole. Welsh, the player taken by the Boston Nationals, batted 342. Poole had quite a number of errors at first, most of which were the result of fighting grounders. Guisto outfielded him, and so did Elston.

Fred Mollwitz, who was once one of the best fielders in the National league, led him by seven points, and almost led the league. Yet the whole, the Athletics can afford to take chances a little in the field, in order to get a man at first who knows how the base should be played, and who can bat.

Hauser, whom Poole replaced, was in better form this spring than he was last year. The team played up to him, and he could hit a mile. True it was only spring pitching he was batting, but he looked for a 350 season. If Poole can bat .325 he will go a long way further toward filling first base shoes for the Athletics than Miller, because the latter isn't the easy going handler of thrown balls that Poole is.

IV—Why Teeth Decay

Teeth that are not used much become loose and sore, with a tendency to decay quickly. I have seen teeth so loose they could be lifted out with the fingers become tight and sound again on a diet of fruits, fresh vegetables and whole wheat bread. White flour is very harmful to the teeth. Rats fed on white bread will not live long and their teeth become so loose they can be lifted out with the fingers, the same as a human being. No animal can exist on white flour alone, while many animals, as well as human beings, will thrive on whole grain wheat.

The teeth are held in place by a kind of tissue that becomes inflamed when unnatural foods are eaten, especially if the teeth are not used much in chewing. This tissue becomes solid and firm when the teeth are exercised properly on natural foods. Crusts of whole wheat bread and rye crisp are good teeth exercisers, as well as dried fruits, celery and lettuce.

No one need suffer from pyorrhea when nature offers so many foods that will eliminate it. Teeth that are not used that will become a little sore around the roots when the person starts to exercise them, but the soreness is much the same as that felt in muscles that have been exercised after remaining idle for a long time, and will soon wear away, leaving the teeth firm.

Ulcerated teeth have been cured after a general housecleaning of the body and purifying of the blood stream. A pure blood stream will carry away the impurities that lodge in different parts of the body, around the teeth included, and throw such impurities out through the skin and other sources of outlet of the body.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

COLDS AND SUPERSTITIONS
Mr. G.—No, I wouldn't say that a cold was nothing more than "Nature's effort to discharge morbid accumulations that have accrued through months of improper diet and indolent habits." The morbid accumulations—the mucoid and mucopurulent discharges—are the direct results of the irritation of the mucous membrane by the micro-organisms causing the cold, not stuff that has accumulated in the system for months and months. The healthiest of us may take a cold if exposed to a virulent cause, or if our resistance is temporarily lowered through a prolonged chilling or wetting.

That sentiment you have quoted is in line with the other statement you expressed when you wrote before; that it is dangerous to cause a sudden healing of running sores because the system is riding itself of poisons. No scientific physician teaches such nonsense. These two sentiments are relics of the age of ignorance and superstition before we knew anything of the science of bacteriology.

The one grain of truth in the statement you have quoted is the fact that mucous membranes do have their resistance lowered by unhygienic living and especially by improper diets, and are therefore more prone to furnish a good soil for the micro-organisms which cause colds and sores, etc.

EATS AND NERVES

"Dear Doctor Peters: Please come to my rescue—I'm lost in a sea of eats, eats! And eats that have a million calories."

"I did weigh 221 pounds. Now I weigh 132—how?" But, alas! something awful has happened. I don't seem to be able to control my diet any more; it seems I want to eat everything that looks good to me now has a million or so calories, so I'm afraid now to eat on a scale again.

"I blame this all on my (am-I-gonna) nervous system. I feel faint, they blamed it on my dieting, but I know positively that it was my nerves, nerves, nerves! I have them galore. And they won't my family. And now I'm eating and can't seem to stop."

"Please, Dr. Peters, I need your help; won't you please try to help me forget to eat once more? Please publish this so that they will leave me alone."

"I omitted to tell you that I am five feet, eleven inches tall. Bobby."

You didn't state your age, Bobby, but you are evidently a young person. I am afraid you dieted too strenuously. Weren't you trying to lose more than two pounds a week? If you are 16 years old—I imagine you are around that—the average for your height would be 151. It is better, however, for children to be 5 per cent or 10 per cent over the average for best health, so you could weigh about 165. At 182 you are still around 165 pounds overweight. Begin to lose it, but don't lose more than one or one and one-half pounds a week.

Remember that you need at least three glasses of milk a day, two big servings of green vegetables and some fruit, cottage cheese, meat or nuts. You need your full allotment of growth foods, which means that you will have to cut out only your candy, other sweets and oils.

Don't do it too strenuously. Increase your exercises in the open air in some way. About your nerves, memorize this quotation from Hubbard:

"Learn to accept the trivial annoyances of life as a matter of course. To give them attention, they are pests. To wear the web of your life to its warp. . . . Be on the lookout for great things and don't let trifles worry you into a passion."

I don't blame your parents for being worried. However, they also want to worry over your tendency to put on so much weight.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this column. I like them as much as you do, but not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in this column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the a.s.a.e. if you expect to receive your information I have offered.

THE NEW MANICURE CREAM
There are hundreds of good ways of manicuring the nails, no special one can be recommended more than any other, but some appeal to one woman, some to another. I find, though, that this new manicure cream, an abrasive cream, is becoming very popular. I wrote about it first some few months ago.

To make it, take about a tablespoonful of petroleum jelly or of cream, cleansing cream that is, even a spoonful of lard—all you want is a thick grease for a foundation; the only objection to lard, aside from the smell, is that it hardens so in cold weather and runs too soft when warm.

Add powdered pumice. To make sure you have the very finest, buy it at a drug store, it comes so fine it looks like face powder, and generally it is perfumed, which makes it nice to use. The proportions are roughly half and half, but it's impossible to say definitely, for a thick cream grows too thick with less than half its amount of pumice added and a thinner cream will stand more without getting thick at all. It's not important anyway. You want an abrasive cream, a rough half and half measurement will work out all right.

Next take little bits of fairly soft pencil eraser cut out into balls without getting thick at all. It's a ten cent pair of tweezers. Or else sharpen an eraser to a point and use that.

Rub the jelly around the finger nails, rub all over the nail, especially where the dead cuticle is, with the eraser, wash off with hot water and soap and a small brush.

If the cuticle about the nails is very bad, this will raise it and need clipping. But after a month or so of use, daily or three times a week, those rough bits won't appear, and your nails will look as attractive as you could desire. The double force of two abrasive things on the nail will take off the dead skin before it has time to make any trouble or look ugly.

A Reader:—You will have to clip off all the stray hairs on the back of your neck below the hair line. This will not make them grow coarser. You may not have to do this very much as the barber who does your cutting will always include this with the bobbing.

For the superfluous hair on your face, use the tweezers for all conspicuous and coarse hairs, and bleach the finer ones with peroxide.

J. E.—A girl of 18 years is so immature that there should be no standard of measurements for her.

Perturbed:—When bleaching the hair on your arms, all that is necessary is to keep the hair dampened with peroxide long enough for the hair to absorb it.

Tomorrow—The Tailored Girl.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Kitchen Shower

In compliment to Miss Grace Crampton of 325 West Burchett street, whose marriage to Roy Wehe of San Francisco will be an event of the spring, Mesdames J. L. Onstott, T. G. McDougall, A. C. Shively, J. S. Hayward and Harriett N. Hamilton entertained yesterday afternoon at luncheon and at a surprise kitchen shower at the McDougall home, 123 West Elk street. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock. Decorations were in pastel shades of pink and lavender and white, orange blossoms and sweetpeas being used. A miniature bride and groom standing under an arch of orange blossoms and smilax decorated the table at which was seated the bride-elect. Four smaller tables were decorated with growing baby pansies and Cecil Brunner roses forming centerpieces. Miniature colonial dolls in pastel shades were favors placed over the nut cups. The shower was the surprise feature of the afternoon. Mrs. Payson Hayward played the wedding march, and as the music was played, Mrs. Harriett N. Hamilton entered the room with a bride's bouquet. The "bouquet" proved to be small tin articles for the kitchen, tied in crepe paper to represent flowers, intermingled with orange blossoms. After Mrs. Hamilton had presented her "bouquet" to Miss Crampton, Mrs. G. McDougall entered the room with a large tin dishpan filled with more kitchen articles wrapped in crepe paper. Other articles were brought in by Mrs. J. L. Onstott and Mrs. A. C. Shively. Accompanying each gift was the name of the donor and some original poetry. The afternoon was spent with Miss Crampton opening her gifts and reading the verses. Each guest presented a recipe for happiness and presented it to the honored guests were members of Chapter C. J. Colds Should Always Be Treated With Vapors

It has long been recognized that the most effective way to treat colds is to apply the medication directly to the affected parts. This of course can only be done by means of vapors that can be inhaled.

Vicks provides the ideal method of securing medicated vapors. When rubbed over throat and chest the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine—are vaporized by the body heat and inhaled directly into the air passages and lungs.

At the same time, Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster, affording a double action which brings truly remarkable results.

"No, you won't, old man," laughed the Irishman. "Talk about spies! Do you think I'm going to have you spying out the nakedness of the land? Every rag I possess is behind there, and I don't mean you to see how few they are. We Irish have our pride if we're little else."

"That's too thin, as they say over here. Out of my way," Von Eulen commanded.

Fitzpatrick laughed no longer. Don't forget where you are, Von Eulen. This is my room. I am master here. If you take that tone I shall have to ask you to leave."

Von Eulen's stiff blond hair bristled with indignation above his crimson forehead to which the blood had rushed.

"Master, is it?" he thundered. "I'll teach you who is master. Don't you know that I hold you in my hand—so? I could crush you as I crush an eggshell. I have only to whisper a word, and where would you be? In jail, my friend."

"Whisper your word, then," cried Fitzpatrick. His voice had grown shrill with the passion of the weak. "I'd rather go to jail, prison and be done with it all, than to have to do with you—slayer of children. My hands look red to me because they have touched yours. We kill, we Seis Felners, but we will kill the Irish Republic may live."

"That is clean warfare. But killing those little children! see them all day, all night! Oh, my God! all day, all night!"

"Now see here, don't get excited," said the German. "Keep calm. That was a blunder, but you had nothing to do with it; it wasn't your bomb that was defective. Come, out of the way."

Graham, watching through a tear in the chintz, saw him brush Fitzpatrick brutally aside, draw a revolver, and stride toward his retreat. He lifted the pistol. It was his life or that of the man he still thought of as Brown. The moment was tense but brief. Before Von Eulen could tear away the curtain, or Graham's finger touch the trigger, a sharp whistle, three times repeated, started the occupants of the room. For an instant Von Eulen stood motionless, fear-frozen, his lifted arm outstretched, his hand almost touching the curtain.

"The signal! A police raid," gasped Fitzpatrick.

The man who was left in the doorway rushed to the window. "Come back, fool! Don't show yourself. Don't you know that they must have the house guarded?" shouted Von Eulen, the spell which had held him broken. "Quick! Everybody to the emergency exit. Take nothing but your papers. Set fire to those you can't carry. We have five minutes. Blum and Kofsky ought to be able to hold the doors as long as that, and still make their getaway."

He looked back with blazing eyes at Fitzpatrick as he went out. "If I find we owe this to you, you chicken-hearted Irishman, you'll wish you had never been born."

"I wish to heaven I had given you away!" Fitzpatrick called after him, shaking an impotent fist behind the German's vanishing back. He ran to the table and began stuffing the papers which lay there into his pockets. As he worked, he drew quick, sobbing breaths from behind the curtain and peered cautiously out into the hall. He did not relish the thought of being found here by the police, and he cursed the faculty he seemed to have developed of late for getting himself

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white square that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

whistles through his teeth, get out of the way like a shot, for that will be Flint himself. Do you think you can carry it off?"

"I don't know. I used to be pretty good at private theatricals."

"Well, there is always the pistol to fall back on. Keep your hands in your pockets, they would betray you. What scared them so badly?"

"Chemicals. My job was making explosives. I have a secret formula."

"Have you any money?" asked Graham.

"A couple of dollars only."

"Here, feel in my pocket."

Fitzpatrick obeyed, and drew out a well-filled wallet.

"There is enough to take you back to Ireland steerage. Will you go?"

"I don't dare to show my face in Ireland. I'd be arrested."

"Fiddlersicks! Every other man is a murderer there now, to judge from the newspapers. You'll be lost in the crowd. Will you chance it?"

"I might as well. I haven't much chance anywhere."

"All right. You'd better try sailing from Canada. You'd never get away here. You are marked."

"If you manage to get out of the house, shed that ulster as fast as you can—you'd be a doubly marked man in it. Buy yourself a decent hat, then take the first train out of New York—any train going north. No, don't thank me. I'm not doing this for you—don't think it. You can answer me a couple of questions, though, in lieu of repayment. In another five minutes you will be either dead or free. If free, you have got me trussed up here so that I can't stop you. If dead—why, it won't matter to you. My first question is: Does Evadne Hurst know or suspect who killed her husband?"

"The answer came readily. 'To my certain knowledge, she does not.'"

"Then here is my second question: Remember you may stand

UNCLE WIGGILY'S RAISIN PIE

"Something in this kitchen has a most delightful smell!" said Uncle Wiggily one morning, as he hopped out into the cooking room of his hollow stump bungalow. Nurse Jane was there, busy at the stove. "Yes, something has a most wonderful odor," went on the bunny gentleman, "and it isn't a bottle of perfume nor yet talcum powder. What is it?" he asked, wrinkling his pink nose.

"I think it must be the raisin pie you smell," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Raisin pie!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "Show me the raisin pie and I will show you a place to put it," and he laughed and opened his hungry mouth very wide. Not wide enough to be impolite or rude but sufficiently wide.

"The raisin pie isn't quite finished," went on the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I have just finished rolling out the piecrust dough, and making the filling. And now, if you like, you may watch me put in the raisins," and from the cupboard Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy lifted the package of raisins which she had bought at the eleven and twelve cent store the day before.

"If there is one thing more than another I like to watch, it is you, my dear, putting raisins in a pie," laughed Uncle Wiggily.

"Hop along with you!" said Nurse Jane with a smile. "You are only pretending to be fond of me because you think you will have raisin pie for lunch." But she was pleased, nevertheless, and took up the pasteboard box of raisins to sprinkle some in the pie.

But Nurse Jane never put the raisins in.

The reason for this was, that, just as she started to do it, the telephone bell rang, and it was Mrs. Twisttail calling for Nurse Jane to come over in a hurry to see if she could help the lady pig get a knot out of the tail of Squeakie Squealer, the baby pig.

"Squeakie's got her tail tied in such a hard knot I can't loosen it!" grunted Mrs. Twisttail.

"I'll come right over!" promised kind Nurse Jane. "But what about the raisin pie?" she asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I'll finish making that," said the bunny. "If all that needs to be done is to put in the raisins, and pop the pie into the oven, I can do that."

"All right, do it!" said Nurse Jane, as she hurried over to the pig lady's house. Uncle Wiggily went to the door, to see her safely down the steps, and, going back to the kitchen he took up the box of raisins, looked in to see the plump, brown, dried grapes (for that is what raisins are, you know) and into the pie he poured them. Then he popped the pie into the oven.

Uncle Wiggily thought he put raisins in the pie, but what he really put in were a lot of brown stone pebbles. And the reason for that was this. When he went to the door to see Nurse Jane safely down the steps, the box of raisins was left on the kitchen table. And left on the kitchen table, passed an old tramp dog.

"Oh, ho! A box of raisins!" whispered the tramp dog, slyly. "I'll eat them. And, so Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane won't miss them, I'll put a lot of brown stone pebbles in the box in place of raisins."

So the tramp dog reached his paw in the open window, took the box of raisins, ate them all up—every one—and dropped the brown pebbles back in the box. And Uncle Wiggily, not knowing this, of course, put the stones in the pie.

And when Nurse Jane came back from the pig pen house she took the pie from the oven, for it was nicely browned and baked. But when she cut it, and she and Uncle Wiggily started to chew it, their teeth bit on the brown pebbles.

"What's this? What's this?" cried the bunny gentleman. "Who put stones in this nice pie?"

"That's what I'd like to know!" spluttered Nurse Jane. "You are a fine cook, Mr. Longears!"

"Ha! It's all your fault, for setting out a box of stones instead of raisins!" cried the bunny. He and Nurse Jane were quite excited about it, until the Police Dog, who had arrested the tramp dog, came along and told what had happened.

"So that's how the trick was done!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. Then Nurse Jane threw away the pebble pie and gave the bunny some cake. And if the cellar stairs don't try to hide away up in the attic when the ash can tries to play tricks with them, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's April shower.

"High Grading" Ore Bill Signed By Richardson

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—Governor Richardson has signed Senate Bill No. 137, designed to assist officials in tracing stolen ore.

"This bill is a constructive piece of legislation of benefit to the mining industry," said the governor. "The deep gold mines of the state have long suffered from excessive stealing of high grade ores. The state mineralogist reports to me that during the past year more than half a million dollars was stolen from the mines of this state."

IMPROVED FEELING

CLEVELAND, April 16.—Manufacturers report an improved feeling in the bolt and nut industry and plants here are now increasing their operations. One Cleveland manufacturer declares that his company has been operating at a profit since December and that better inquiry is being experienced at present from makers of implements, hardware jobbers, automobile makers and the railroads.

MOTORISTS' CLUB IS GROWING FAST

Service Body, Newly Formed
Expects 50,000 Members
Before Year's End

Judging from the large number of applications for membership in the Motorists' Service club, Inc., received since the opening of our downtown office in the Consolidated building, the membership record which this club set in the first six months of its existence will be broken in another two months," said J. C. Wickham, district manager of this organization, yesterday.

More than 400 service stations, garages, accessory houses, tire companies and battery stations are under contract with the club now, with others signing up at the rate of fifteen to twenty a day, in order to give night service to members of this organization all over Southern California.

Other Service
"These companies, in addition to rendering service and labor at special discount prices to members of the Motorists' Service club, Inc., are contracted to furnish materials, including gasoline, greases, oils, tires, tubes, parts and accessories, that they have in stock at prices ranging from 5 to 20 per cent below the prevailing market price."

"It is possible for each member, through the benefits which this club offers, to save during the year $60 or more. This saving alone means that the membership is paying for itself thirty times over."

High School
William S. Kienholz, director of vocational instruction in Los Angeles, who spoke to the High School Parent-Teacher association yesterday on "Vocations Not Requiring College Training," advocates that high school curricula should provide knowledge the first two years and vocational training the last two years to fit young people for earning their living.

In support of this theory he stated that many young people are not able to go to college and they should be able, therefore, to receive some preparation for vocations in high school. He told of the trade classes conducted in Los Angeles and of the teaching of related subjects with the trades.

Morgan Smith, head of the shop department of the high school, also spoke, telling what Glendale is doing along that line, and invited school patrons to visit the shop department.

Mrs. W. R. Wichert, president, presided over the meeting. Plans were announced for two assemblies, April 30 at 12:15 o'clock at Broadway High school, and 2:25 at Harvard High school, proceeds to go to the Parent-Teacher association scholarship fund. Jerome Shaffer, who entertained at the First District conference at Redondo, will give his program, "High School Foolishness." Admissions will be 25 and 15 cents.

The nomination committee appointed includes Mesdames A. Read, Rount, B. L. Cline, C. H. Ambrosch, Mrs. Brown. Mrs. Wichert announced that written reports from chairmen are to be in readiness by the next meeting. Miss Besse Long entertained with a dramatic reading.

At that time books will be presented to the new mothers. Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman, read two interesting articles yesterday, "Parents' Responsibility in Preparing Children for School Life," from a national circular, and "American Language," from a club publication.

Review. In the afternoon Mrs. Henry read from the study book, "The Home," by Charlotte Perkins Gilman, the chapters on "Sanctity" and "Present Conditions." The next chapter will be on "Home as a Workshop." Mrs. Sillicker went to Manhattan Beach today to talk on reading circle work.

A. is going to provide a real treat for school patrons Thursday night, April 30, when Jerome Shaffer, clever impersonator, musician, humorist and lecturer, will give his program "High-Class Foolishness" at the school. The program will begin at 8 o'clock. Tickets will be sold by P-T. A. members, at the school and in business houses where posters are displayed. At the meeting yesterday afternoon Mrs. A. T. Evans was presiding officer. A nominating committee named includes Mesdames F. D. Gardner, R. A. Van Osdel, H. C. Saulsberry, Acton and Addison. The program yesterday was presented by Miss Katherine Barnett, kindergarten teacher, and her two assistants. Work done each day in the kindergarten, was demonstrated by children.

Wilson
Mrs. W. Rount of 721 Cordova avenue will open her home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock for a benefit card party for Wilson Parent-Teacher association. Tables will be arranged for bridge and five-hundred and the winners will be awarded prizes. Refreshments will be served.

ORGANIZATION OF COUNCIL IS NEXT

G. Woodberry Urges Matter
At Polls Tuesday

Editor The Evening News—Our city is highly gratified and is to be congratulated on the fine personnel of the officials named to conduct the material interests of the municipality during the next four years. Conceding, as all seem to, the ability, integrity and high standing of these men, it is a matter of deep concern to this city that they be judged competent to themselves decide upon how they shall organize the new City Council and not have possible dissension and discord injected by interested persons or groups dictating at the very outset that they do thus and so in a matter which the city charter leaves entirely to their discretion.

As a member of the charter committee I recollect that when the question of how the council should organize came up it was suggested that the one receiving the highest number of votes be the presiding officer or mayor, but upon discussion it was brought out so very plainly that such a method might result in the one least fitted by experience and natural qualifications attaining the position that, as I remember, the vote to leave the matter entirely open for the councilmen themselves to decide was unanimous.

By all means, it is to the interest of every citizen that no unnecessary troubles be forced upon our newly elected councilmen, even before their induction into office. They will have trouble enough in any event, and as a matter of fair play to these men, do not let us make the serious mistake of claiming they are competent to run our city government but not competent to organize as required by our charter, without interference and dictation.

G. B. WOODBERRY.

Survey of fire hazards, water supply, water mains and other elements entering into fire protection will be completed probably by Monday, it was said.

Carrier Pigeon Tells Of Fishermen's Peril

DUNKIRK, France, April 16.—Each winter the men of Dunkirk go up to the seas of Iceland to fish for crabs.

This winter the crab-fishing fleet has had hardships to endure and has undergone great dangers. Word has come to Dunkirk from Iceland of missing trawlers and many "lost" fishermen.

Dunkirk was on the verge of great sorrow, fearful lest her men had been drowned, when a good news bearer came by air—a carrier pigeon. The bird had been released from one of the ships and flew more than 1,500 miles with its message.
